NEWS FROM the Republican convention, not much. Many believe that Mr. Hoover will be nominated for Vice-President, as a rugged Westerner from California, perhaps, to offset McAdoo's California "origin" should the Democrats choose McAdoo. Or it may be because Coolidge comes from so far East.

You will be able to read the Republican convention platform today. It won't startle or frighten you with radicalism.

On the contrary, the document will make it clear to you that everything is for the best possible of worlds, and will remain so, if the country is careful to preserve the Republican party, and obey the law.

AFTER LONG discussion Republicans decide to give women half of the places on their national committee. What sympathetic interest politicians do take in women now that they can vote. They have changed their minds from "woman's place is in the kitchen" to "woman's place is on the national committee."

IF YOU ARE asking yourself, "Whom will the Democrats nominate?" don't overlook Thomas F. Ryan, of New York.

Mr. Ryan, who got New York's subways and sold them to J. Pierpont Morgan, has since bought diamond mines in Africa, much real estate in Paris, a few tobacco companies and some other things. But he hasn't lost interest in politics.

WHILE "AL" SMITH is the active boss of Tammany Hall, Thomas F. Ryan may be described as the owner of Tammany Hall. In any case, Tammany will do about as he says. And T. F. Ryan does not love W. G. McAdoo. Why, nobody knows. It is said Ryan thinks McAdoo and John Skelton Williams, combined, were too severe with a Washington bank for which Mr. Ryan had a friendly feeling.

MR. RYAN isn't strong enough, as Bryan proved in Baltimore, to name the man he wants, but he may be strong enough to prevent the nomination of a man that he doesn't want. That's to be taken into account when you make your "book" on the Democratic nomination.

IN HIS CELESTIAL home, associating with Shakespeare, Beethoven, Michael Angelo, Archimedes, Aristotle, and the rest of earth's ten greatest graduates, Newton smiles a sarcastic smile today. Professor Ehrcke, heavy, solid German scientist, says that Einstein's attack on the Newton theory is just "a bluffing of the scientific world." The Deutsche Zeitung says: "Kant and Newton remain the princes of science."

Newton is the real prince, head of them all. Next come Galileo, Descarte, Kepler, Copernicus, Tycho Brahe. Kant is in another and more uncertain class—philosophy.

OBSERVE, PLEASE, that the six greatest astronomers, celestial scientists, that ever lived, came from six different nationalities. Copernicus, a Pole; Tycho Brahe, a Swede; Kepler, German; Galileo, Italian; Descarte, Frenchman, and Newton, king of them, most magnificent mathematical mind ever born on this earth, an Englishman.

NEWTON WAS considered a dull little boy, according to tradition. Yet when he first picked up Euclid's Elements, by which so many youthful heads have been made dizzy, he tossed it aside contemptuously as "too trifling, simple and easily understood to be worth the study."

Don't pass sentence on the "dull little boy" until he has had his chance.

SHIP OWNERS say 1,562 Italian sailors deserted in this country last year, and desertions are increasing. It is sad to see the immigration law violated, BUT everyone of those seamen is intelligent, strong, a good worker and welcome.

NAB 'QUEEN' AND $12,000 IN DRUGS

Alleged Girl Leader of Dope-Running Gang Seized in Thrilling Allston Raid

Sadie Henderson, alleged "queen" of a band of international dope runners, was arrested with a male companion and $12,000 worth of cocaine, believed to have been smuggled over the line from Canada, was seized, by Federal narcotic agents in a raid on an apartment at No. 1391 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, today.

A large supply of bottled Canadian liquor also was seized.

It was the most successful drug raid conducted by local government agents in years. One hundred and twenty ounces of Ice drug in packages containing from three to seven ounces each were found by the raiders.

A man giving the name of "Charles Miller" was found in the Henderson woman's apartment. He was charged with being present where narcotics were found.

The Henderson woman, whose home address was given as Montreal, is believed to be the sweetheart of an international criminal well known to the authorities. Arrest of this man is imminent, Agent Allen said, following the raid.

STAGE DRAMATIC RAID.

For several weeks Agent Allen's men have been watching the apartment of the "queen." Late Wednesday night one of the Federal agents made a preparatory "buy" from the Henderson woman at the apartment.

Arrangements were made for a further delivery of 800 ounces of cocaine. The woman agreed to deliver $2,400 worth of the stuff today, it is said.

With a large squad of agents Chief Allen surrounded the Allston apartment house just before noon.

HUBBROKER PAYS FINE OF $10,000

William H. Burgess Pleads Guilty in Larceny Case; Bookkeeper Fined $2000

A fine of $10,000 was imposed by Judge Bishop in Suffolk Superior Court upon William H. Burgess, senior partner of the brokerage firm of Burgess, Lang & Co., when he pleaded guilty to an indictment in three counts of larceny. Burgess paid the fine.

The firm was charged with muleting customers of about $100,000 through stock transactions. Among the losers was Matthew C. Brush, now of New York and former president of the Boston Elevated.

Other charges against Burgess, including conspiracy to steal and conducting a bucket shop, were either not prossed or placed on file.

Howard W. Lang, the junior member of the firm, pleaded nolo to conspiracy charges. His case was not prossed.

Charles Walker, bookkeeper, entered no plea to a conspiracy indictment. He paid a fine of $2,000 and expenses of court.

The list of customers of the firm who lost money and the amounts said to have been stolen from them are: Matthew C. Brush, $52,000; George A. Marshall, $19,925; Fred Weymouth, $19,400; Charles Coggeshall, $1,840; Clarence Hoyt, $2,500; William Woolf, $8,500; Herman Woolf, $8,425; Thomas Marks, $425, and Edward Warner $365.

SWEPT IN WITH LOUD ACCLAIM

President Chosen as the Party Leader by Nearly Unanimous Vote of Convention

Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 12.—Calvin Coolidge was all but unanimously nominated for the Presidency today in the Republican National Convention.

The voices of the little group of LaFollette men from Wisconsin and North Dakota, who have stood through the convention in militant insurgency against the policies of the party leaders, were almost swallowed up in the tremendous wave of acclamation that formally ratified Mr. Coolidge's choice as the standard bearer of his party.

It was the plan to choose the President's running mate at another session this afternoon. Then the convention will adjourn and the party will go before the country.

Not in many years has a Republican convention come so near to unanimity in its selection of a nominee for the Presidency.

Placed in nomination by Dr. Marion Leroy Burton, of Michigan, Mr. Coolidge's name threw the assembled delegates into another old-time demonstration, and when the roll call began, State after State took its place in the column of his supporters.

The call of the States was scarcely half over when the necessary majority to nominate had been recorded in his favor.

MISSING GIRL'S KITE AND DRESS FOUND IN HUNT

Providence, June 12.—A battered kite, spotted with what may prove to be blood; a tiny undershirt, wet when found, and a little dress today pointing to the discovered today pointing to the murder of three-year-old Viola Aiken.

The child disappeared from the farm of Edgar Mowry near Slatersville, where her mother, Mrs. Viola Allen, lived with James Graham, a farmhand.

The discoveries were made by William Adlaire, town constable of Slatersville, after Mrs. Aiken and Graham had been locked up on a statutory charge.

Adlaire scoured the farm, the farmhouse and barn and a corn crib con-

MITCHELL JURY FAILS TO AGREE; DISCHARGED

After having been out twenty hours, the jury in the Max Mitchell trial was discharged by Judge Sanderson in the Suffolk Superior Court today on their failure to reach an agreement.

The case was given the jury at 4:36 yesterday afternoon. Mitchell, having been charged with larceny of the funds of the Cosmopolitan Trust Company, of which he is president.

After being out all night, the jury was called in by Judge Sanderson early today and reported that no agreement had been reached.

Judge Sanderson read to the jurymen the celebrated case of the Commonwealth vs. Tuey, in which Judge Ebenezer R. Hoar, of the Court of Common Pleas, more than sixty years ago defined what constitutes a reasonable doubt.

He then sent the jury out again, with instructions to reach an agreement if possible.

CURTIS IS CHOICE FOR SECOND PLACE

Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 12.—It's Curtis. This was the word passed around among the leaders here today as the delegates to the Republican National Convention assembled in the Auditorium to nominate Calvin Coolidge to succeed himself.

Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, at the hour of convening seemed to be having a walk away of the Vice-Presidential race. In the short space of a few hours and following swiftly on the heels of Senator Borah's refusal to run, administration support swung solidly behind the Kansan and he seemed assured of enough delegates from the agricultural West to put him over.

Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, permanent chairman of the convention leaned over the platform and conversed with delegates as they drifted in.

"I guess it's Curtis," Mondell said.

On the floor, the talk was of little else.

Martin B. Madden, said the Illinois delegation would get behind the Kansan. He was assured of some support in the California delegation, Kansas of course was solidly for him and given the proper amount of time, his fellow Kansans promised to line up the whole grain belt.

It was not expected, however, that the nomination of the Kansan could be accomplished on the first ballot.

COOLIDGE WANTS KENYON ON TICKET

Cleveland, June 12 (I.N.S.).—President Coolidge sent word to his managers in Cleveland today that he wants Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa to be named as his running mate. The word came after the leaders themselves had agreed upon the nomination of Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas and had succeeded in lining up enough delegates to put him over.

LITTLE VIOLA AIKEN'S KITE, THOUGHT TO BE BLOODSTAINED, ALSO DISCOVERED

taining several hundred bushels of corn. The kite was found in the fields near the farmhouse, the shirt and dress in the section of the house occupied by Mrs. Aiken and Graham.

The latter discovery was considered significant, as Mrs. Aiken had previously told Constable Allaire that little Viola was wearing these garments when she disappeared.

KITE SENT TO BOSTON.

The kite was sent to Boston for chemical examination to learn if the spots are blood, and Allaire left for this city to confer with Edward Walling, town counsel, who is in charge of the case. Important developments are expected in the next twelve hours.

Another feature of today's developments was the statement by Mrs. Annie Keough, mother of Mrs. Aiken, that her daughter told her she would never "butt in" when Graham was punishing her children.

Mrs. Keough said she visited her daughter last Monday at the farm house, and had dinner with her and Graham. At that time she said Graham threatened to kill anyone who interfered with Mrs. Aiken and himself.

THREAT TO KILL.

Taking a gun from the wall, he said:

"If anyone interferes with us I'll finish them with this and if it isn't enough, here is another," taking a second gun from its place.

Mrs. Keough said Mrs. Aiken complained because Mrs. Selma Romblat, housekeeper for Mr. Mowry, owner of the farm, had interfered when Graham was beating Mrs. Aiken's oldest child, John.

"She told me," said Mrs. Keough, "that she did not approve of people butting in. I asked her if she would not interfere if she heard the screams of a child being beaten. She said no, she would not butt in no matter what happened."

Mrs. Keough said she had advised her daughter not to take her three children with her when she went to live with Graham, as he did not want them.

The country for miles around the rural hamlet of North Smithfield has been gone over as with a fine comb, leaving the searchers as baffled as when they started.

Only two days before her baby's disappearance did Mrs. Aiken come to live at the lonely farm of E. E. Mowry, where Mowry's housekeeper is now caring for the other two Aiken children, John, seven years and James, ten months. John F. Aiken, husband of the jailed mother, does not claim to be the father of either of these children.

At the time Mrs. Aiken and Graham were arrested, Graham was employed on the Mowry farm, where he had taken Mrs. Aiken two days previous to the disappearance of the baby girl. He introduced Mrs. Aiken as his wife and explained that she was a divorcee who had two children when he married her. Mr. Mowry had known Graham for several years, having employed him several times on the farm.

Here is Mr. Mowry's story of the disappearance and some events leading up to it:

"I have known James Graham for several years. I met him one day at Slatersville and we talked. He said he was working in Providence as a mechanic, but desired to return to the country to work. I made a proposition for him to work on my farm and he accepted.

"He told me he had married a divorced woman who had two children beside the last one, which was his. He urged me to permit him to bring his family into the country. I told him he could have a house on our estate as soon as a family moved out. He finally prevailed on me to permit him to move into the other half of my farm house. I agreed and he brought out the woman I have since known as Mrs. Aiken. The three children accompanied them. They came in my automobile, which I loaned him to convey them to the farm.

"Two days after they moved to the farm, my housekeeper, Mrs. Selma Romblat and I left the farm in my machine at 2 p. m. I visited some neighbors to make purchases. We returned home about 5:15 p. m. that day.

HOUSE FILLED

"When we left the house four children remained behind on our side of the house—Harold Anderson, 14 years old, who makes his home with me, and the three Romblat children, Leonard, 13 years old; Elsie, 11 and Gladys, 8. On the other side of the house when we left were Mrs. Aiken and her three children.

"When my housekeeper and I returned, Mrs. Romblat's children Elsie and Gladys, during the course of greeting said to their mother 'Johnny can't find Viola.' At this time Mrs. Aiken was in a lower field, about an eighth of a mile from the house following behind Graham who was ploughing. Leonard Romblat was driving the plough horses.

"I made careful inquiries of everybody concerned. Leonard Romblat who had been in the field with Graham, nearly all afternoon, told me that Graham sent him to the farmhouse once to find out what time it was and also said to him 'Tell my wife to come down here; I want to see her.'

SAW CHILD AT PLAY

"Leonard says he went to the house and it was then 4.05. He says that at that time little Viola was on her own back door step playing with her brother Johnny. He says that Mrs. Aiken followed him to the field where Graham was, about ten minutes later or about 4.15.

"If Leonard's statements are correct that means the child disappeared some time between 4.05 p. m. when he says he last saw her and 5.15 p. m. when we arrived home. I questioned all the children very carefully but they heard nothing unusual. They did not see or hear any outsiders near the house and did not hear any wagon or automobile.

"Leonard says his sisters, Elsie and Gladys, were in one part of the house at play on the floor with blocks when he went to the house at 4.05 p. m. and that Mrs. Aiken was in her part of the house. Harold Anderson wasn't feeling well and went upstairs at 3:30 to lie down as I had instructed him to do before leaving. He was upstairs when we returned.

"We began a casual search at once upon our return after the Romblat children told their mother Johnny couldn't find little Viola. I first looked in an old well and later we became alarmed and called for help. That was about an hour afterward. I sent Graham and his supposed wife in the machine to notify Sheriff William Allaire.

"The child's mother searched for about an hour and so did Graham. The rest of us stayed up all night and scoured the farm, the surrounding woods until 4 a. m. It was a wild, stormy night. While we searched the child's mother and Graham toasted their shins by the fire in their part of the house. About midnight somebody asked why they were not searching and the mother said there wasn't any need of going over the same ground again and again.

"She didn't shed a tear; she seemed to have no nerves; I couldn't understand it. If I, who had never seen the child until forty-eight hours previously was willing to search through the rain for the child I couldn't understand why the mother could be so calloused as to sit calmly in the house and not join the searchers. I could not fathom her."

John F. Aiken, father of the missing child was at the Mowry farm when an American reporter called there. Although he searched the farm for some trace of his little girl Aiken believes she is alive. "My reason for believing my little baby is alive is because of the indifference of my wife during the search for the child.

MAYBE KIDNAPED

"I do not believe any mother could fail to make every possible effort to locate her child, unless satisfied that it was not lost. I believe that the child was kidnaped and that it was part of a plan to get rid of me in order that another might take my place. I feel that little Viola will be found alive.

"I have tried my best to support my wife but we have not been living together for the past four months, through no fault of mine. During those four months she has been at the home of her mother in Natick, R. I. She met Graham about a year ago."

CALL WRITING EXPERT IN THE COAKLEY CASE

State Witness Tells of Examining the Signatures of "Mrs. Pennington"

Wilbur J. Turner of Reading, a handwriting expert, was called into the Coakley-Corcoran conspiracy trial in East Cambridge Superior Court by District Attorney Arthur K. Reading.

The expert testified to having examined signatures and handwriting of Mrs. P. M. Pennington, known also as Phyllis Allen—with whom Captain Charles E. Stearns was trapped in a Cambridge apartment—Mabel L. Litchfield, Daniel H. Sugrue, Janette M. Wells and "P. M. Allen of Dorchester."

Today's session of the trial was largely taken up with wrangling between defence and prosecution counsel.

Joseph H. Caughey, head bookkeeper for Charles Head & Co., State street bankers, testified today in the trial.

He produced several pages of records of certain accounts of the company and these, with several letters, were marked for identification, but were not read to the jury. District Attorney Reading's efforts to have testimony in regard to the letters admitted caused a long delay.

Frederick E. Putnam, proprietor of the Putnam Hotel, No. 284 Huntington avenue, was next called by the State. Shown a picture previously identified as Mrs. P. M. Pennington and Phyllis Allen, witness declared he recognized it as a likeness of Phyllis Allen.

Putnam said she had been a guest at his hotel at various times in 1918 and 1919. He then produced his hotel register and pointed out a signature on it which he said was written in his presence. The register was marked as an exhibit, but was not shown to the jury.

A handwriting expert, Wilbur J. Turner of Reading, took the stand. He testified to having examined a great many signatures on different exhibits, at request of the District Attorney.

He said he had examined signatures of Mrs. P. M. Pennington and her writing in her letters to Captain Charles E. Stearns. He had also examined the signature of Mabel L. Litchfield, he testified, on a divorce libel and signatures of Mabel Litchfield and Daniel H. Sugrue on the back of a check.

The signature of "P. M. Allen of Dorchester" on the Putnam Hotel register was examined, also the signature of Phyllis Allen on a contract made between her and the Paige-Detroit Company.

The expert also had examined signatures of Jeanette M. Wells on a lease for furniture.

PLAN TO BREAK RHODE ISLAND FILIBUSTER

Republicans Hope to Take Advantage of Governor's Absence at Convention

Providence, R. I., June 12.—Republican politicians rely upon the Democratic National Convention as their only immediate hope to break the Democratic filibuster in the State Senate.

During the week of the convention, June 23, Governor Flynn will be in New York to attend it, Lieutenant Governor Toupin, who has also been named as a delegate, will, however, remain here, while Michael F. Costello, named as an alternate, will go in his stead.

Thus, Lieutenant Governor Toupin will become for that week Acting Governor of the State.

Republicans contend that while Toupin is acting as governor he cannot preside over the Senate. Consequently, they are confident that in the absence of Toupin from the Senate chamber, they will have little difficulty in breaking the filibuster.

Democrats, however, are confident that the absence of Governor Flynn will make no difference in the status of Toupin with respect to his duties as president of the Senate. They claim that merely because he becomes acting Governor, Toupin does not relinquish his duties as Lieutenant Governor, but takes on the added authority.

BIG DOPE RAID

One of his men entered the woman's apartment. He carried $2,400 in marked money. When the 120 ounces were delivered by the woman the agent signalled his chief and the squad swept into the lavishly furnished suite.

All of the money was recovered by Agent Allen before the Henderson woman and her alleged accomplice were taken to Federal Narcotic headquarters.

Col. L. G. Nutt, chief of the Federal bureau at Washington, when apprised of the arrest of the woman and seizure of the large quantity of drugs, congratulated the local agents on their good work.

It is charged by Agent Allen that the woman brought the stuff over the border recently. According to the officers, she has lived in this city at times over a period of two years.

HEAD WINDS DELAY S. S. WINIFREDIAN

Strong head winds delayed the arrival of the Leyland line steamship Winifredian 24 hours on her voyage from Liverpool to Boston. On board were 22 cabin passengers, 14 returning Californians and 1000 tons of wool, machinery and general merchandise. The liner also brought 24 blooded horses, principally hunters, for Richard Sheehan of Dover.

DEFENCE TO CLAIM "MORAL INSANITY" FOR FRANKS SLAYERS

CORPS OF ALIENISTS EMPLOYED

Young Loeb Yearns to Try 'Solitary'; Gets Hangman's Cap as Birthday Gift

Chicago, June 12 (I.N.S.).—A corps of alienists and psychiatrists under direction of Dr. James Whitney Hall started today to build a defense of "moral insanity" for Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., who will go to trial August 4 on the charge of the murder of Robert Franks.

The youths have had no "emotional outlet" since they left the cradle and the natural trend of their over-educated and over-pampered lives from babyhood has been toward some brutal outbreak such as the kidnaping and slaying of the Franks boy, the defence will maintain.

Defence counsel secured permission through the sheriff for the examination of the youths in their cells by alienists developing what will be an elaborate document in criminal-psychology study.

GETS ROPE AS GIFT.

Leopold, back in his cell after arraignment yesterday, added his bit toward an insanity structure with the request for instructions as to how to reach solitary confinement. He was told that injunctions of jail rule would place him there and warned that he would receive only bread and water to eat and drink.

"I'd like the thrill," he told the guard. "I'd like to do anything once, you know."

Loeb celebrated his nineteenth birthday the day of his arraignment with a strenuous game of "jail baseball" in the bull pen.

He received several anonymous gifts, among them a black hangman's cap and a sturdy piece of hemp rope.

Of several postcards one was from Joliet pen, showing a picture of the prison and bearing the inscription:

"Having a swell time. Wish you were here."

PROTEST TRIAL DATE.

Judge Caverly set the trial date for August 4 against the request of State's Attorney Crowe, who wished the men tried not later than July 15. Crowe said:

"I would suggest that your Honor follow out the procedure your have been adopting in murder cases and set this for an early date. July 15 would give the defense a month and a half for trial."

Attorney Darrow interjected:

"This case is not in the class with other murder cases. There isn't a man in Chicago who would say we could get a fair trial within a month.

"We are as anxious as anyone to get ready, but we must have a fair trial."

When the date was set both Darrow and Bachrach said they would devote all their time to preparation and expected to be ready on time.

Leopold and Loeb, with fresh hair-cuts and shaves, appeared in custody of deputy sheriffs, their wrists bound with leather thongs—"come alongs" in the parlance of the jail.

The officers cleared a path for them through the largest crowd that ever jammed into Judge Caverly's court, women predominating.

Neither of the youths appeared to be perturbed in the slightest degree.

The State continued interviewing witnesses as to the mental condition of the two. The most important witness heard on this angle was Dean Hall, of the Law School at the University of Chicago.

He told Assistant State's Attorneys Milton D. Smith, John Sbarbaro and Joseph Savage that he never had noted anything irrational in the conduct of Leopold, who was a law student, and related the fact that two days after the murder the youth had taken an examinaion for entrance to Harvard.

BOY DAZED AFTER MYSTERY ACCIDENT

Whitinsville, June 12.—Donald McKann, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKann of Auburn, R. I., was found lying unconscious in a ditch on the country road near the cemetery. He was taken to Whitinsville Hospital for possible internal injuries.

Donald could not remember what had happened to him other than that he had gone for a ride in an auto with some friends. The police think that he must have fallen out of the auto and his friends did not notice his disappearance.

WOOLEN MILLS CUT WORKING SCHEDULE

Southbridge, June 12.—Officials of the Hamilton Woolen Company and Central Woolen Mills announced a schedule of four days every other week.

The notice states that the mills will not be operated during the week beginning June 16 nor on alternate weeks thereafter until further notice.

FRANKS SLAYER AND JAIL PALS

(International News Reel Photo.)

RICHARD LOEB JOYOUS IN PRISON

Zippy Jazz music played by entertainers at the county jail in Chicago brought happy smiles to Richard Loeb's face as well as to the faces of his jail mates with whom he enjoyed the program. Loeb, confessed slayer of Robert Franks (arrow points to him), could not keep his feet still when the saxophone poured forth its syncopated melody. This photo might lead one to believe that crime, not excepting murder, is something to make its perpetrator joyous.

Women Bootleggers Should Get Married

Worcester, June 12.—Every female bootlegger should attach to herself a husband if she wishes a good chance for more than an even break in court. All this providing friend husband is present when a sale is made.

Here's the case in point:

Mrs. Walter Piktialis sold a few "shots" to Worcester police officers in the store of Walter at the intersection of Washington and Lamartine streets.

The lady herself served the half pint and accepted the money, police officers testified.

Behold!

Walter was arrested and found guilty in Superior Court on the charge of keeping and exposing. Counsel for hubby argued that Piktialis knew nothing of his wife's booze sideline.

Judge Dilloh read from a heavy volume. Presumption of the law is that the act was done under the co-operation of the husband and as a matter of law brings the offence home to him.

This is June, "ladies!"

STATE HAS SOLD $30,000,000 INSURANCE

"Savings Bank" System Proves a Big Success, Report Shows

Savings bank life insurance, started in 1907 by the Commonwealth as an experiment, has proven a huge success, according to a review issued by the department. Policies totaling more than $30,000,000 are in force, the report says.

The system is unique in that no one is employed to solicit insurance for a commission or to collect premiums. For the most part it is an "over the counter" business. It is called "savings bank life insurance" because the policies are issued to and the premiums paid to savings banks.

The following figures show the growth of the system during the past five years, in new policies issued: 1920, $2,672,161; 1921, $1,619,832; 1922, $3,350,191; 1923 $5537438; 1924 (seven months) $4,559,520.

SECOND DESTROYER SENT TO ALBANIA

Brindisi, Italy, June 12 — The American destroyer Edsall has arrived at this port but will leave later today for Avlona, Albania, where the destroyer Bulmer is already present. The American warcraft has been sent to the Albanian coast as a measure of protection for Americans during the present turmoil in Albania.

U. S. MEN FLY 500 MILES IN 6 H. 28 M.

Hong Kong, June 12 (A. P.)—The American army around the world fliers, who left here at 10:17 Tuesday morning arrived at Haiphong, French Indo-China, at 4:45 that afternoon. They covered the 500 miles in six hours and twenty-eight minutes.

SHOT-RIDDLED BODY OF BOSTON MAN FOUND

Viola Dies on Way to Portland Hospital, Following a Festival There

With his body riddled with bullets, Vincenza Viola of No. 28 Parmenter street, was found dying today in a yard at No. 19 Chatham street, Portland, Me.

Viola, who is the father of six children, died in an ambulance on the way to the Maine General Hospital.

Robbery was not the motive for the slaying. In his pockets a roll of food was found and his diamond ring was still on his finger. According to the Portland police, residents of the Italian section where he was found celebrated a festival last night.

Viola left Boston last week for Portland in a Ford touring car lent him by Giuseppi Famolaro of No. 16 Charter street. Nothing has been heard from him since until word of his being killed was received in Boston.

Mrs. Viola was prostrated when she was notified of the slaying of her husband and boarded a train for the removal of the body to Boston.

COMBINE TO FIGHT BABY VOLSTEAD ACT

Two anti-prohibition forces have joined hands to bring about the defeat of the baby Volstead act, passed by the legislature in 1923, and which will appear on the ballot in the November election. They are the Constitutional Liberty League of Massachusetts and the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, Massachusetts Division. Notice of the action has been received by the secretary of State. The committee, composed of Charles S. Hackenmann of Milton, chairman; Julian Codman, Hamilton; Frances Dwight, Milton; Louis A. Coolidge, Milton, and Hon. Livermore, Boston.

Wife Prostrated

MRS. VINCENZA VIOLA.

North End woman was overcome when she learned her husband had been shot to death in Portland, Me., early today. He was found dying in a yard following an Italian festival.

Snuff-Taking Latest Fad in London's Smart Boudoirs

London, June 12.—Fashion's eternal return in London is demonstrated by the newest fad of Mayfair boudoirs and the smart night clubs—a feminine swing to the left in the form of snuff-taking.

Tobacconists who for years have been supplying cigarettes in increasing numbers to women report a falling off in cigarette sales and a definite increase in the consumption of snuff, mostly among feminine customers.

Of course society has divided over the question, many women characterizing the fad as disgusting, but the younger set has apparently decided enthusiastically in its favor.

ATTORNEY HELD IN AUTO 'PLOT' FOR LICENSE

Is Charged With Having Received Money After Test of Driving

Fortunatus J. Borgocious, an attorney of No. 453 East Broadway, South Boston, was arraigned and held in Middlesex Superior Court today on an indictment charging conspiracy with William A. Benson to procure an automobile operator's license.

It was charged that on December 12, 1923, Benson took a driving test for Anthony Seditas of No. 13 Jefferson street, Cambridge, in his name. He was granted a license, which he turned over to Seditas, in return for a money payment, according to the police. It is also alleged that Borgocious received part of the money.

HINSDALE SLAYER DENIED PARDON

Concord, N. H., June 12.—John Wren, who was charged with the murder of John S. Hamilton, railway section boss in Hinsdale, in 1913, later convicted and who has been serving a life sentence at the State prison for the crime, was denied a pardon by Governor Fred H. Brown.

The pardon was requested unanimously by the board of trustees and at the meeting each of the five councillors was put on record as favoring the pardon.

LEOMINSTER BOY'S SKULL FRACTURED

Leominster, June 12.—Raymond Bresnahan, ten-year-old son of John Bresnahan, station agent at the North Leominster depot was probably fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile in front of the depot. The boy was removed to the Leominster Hospital suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries and his name was placed on the danger list. The automobile was driven by Morris Cleary of Watertown.

6-INCH RULE FOR BATHERS AT ROCKAWAY

Beach Police Also Put Ban on One-Piece Suits and No Stockings

New York, June 12.—The authorities of the Rockaways—Far and Beach—have adopted their 1924 code of natatory and aquatic jurisprudence, morals and ethics.

There are some surprises in the new beach bathing rules. For instance, it had been widely rumored the Rockaways would follow the example of Atlantic City, which recently placed a ban on watermelon and marshmallow parties on the beach. The new Rockaway code, however, says nothing about these pastimes.

It had been rumored also that the local resort would forbid the eating of salt herring on the beach, because of the prevalence last year of herringbone slivers in the feet of Rockaway bathers. But nothing was said of herring, either.

The one-piece bathing suit is taken up; that it, it is considered, and the Captains of Police of Far Rockaway (Thomas Myers), and Rockaway Beach (Cornelius Carmody) have been given a list of don'ts.

These their men will learn by heart and recite on the beaches before the multitudes every seventide just as the sun is sinking, like a great argent sphere, over the hills of Lynbrook. Among the don'ts are these:

Don't wear one-piece bathing suits unless an ample bathing skirt accompanies it.

Don't neglect to wear stockings (girls only).

Don't walk to the beach without a robe over your suit.

Don't shop in your bathing suit.

Don't undress in a bathing suit. (Pardon us for remarking it, but that rule seems silly. How could anybody undress in his bathing suit?)

Don't play ball on the beach.

Don't make love on the beach. Girls and fellows must keep six inches apart—whether in the water or on the beach.

Don't fool the life guards by yelling for help, girls. If you'd like to meet him, go up and introduce yourself.

Forty patrolmen have been added to the forces of the two Rockaways to see that the bathers mind their P's and Q's—and don'ts.

Brockton Boxer's Heart Located on Right Side

Brockton, June 12.—One of the strangest cases called to the attention of Brockton physicians in a long time is that of Charles Andre of No. 39 Manomet street, an amateur boxer, whose heart has been found on the right side of his body.

He had learned at school that the heart was on the left side and the strange pounding he felt on the right at times puzzled him. He consulted Dr. Joseph A. Newman, who after an examination found that Andre's heart was indeed on his right side and his liver on the left.

SEEKS $50,000 FOR ALLEGED ATTACK

Asserting that he was assaulted by Nathan Quinn, of Woburn, Henry A. O'Connor, of Woburn, has brought suit in Middlesex Superior Court asking damages of $50,000. He alleges that on April 16 Quinn beat him.

MANY TOWNS TO LOSE STREET CAR SERVICE

Worcester Railway May Drop Non-Paying Lines Because of the Wage Increase

Worcester, June 12.—As the result of the award of ten cents an hour increase in wages to the 1,200 employes of the Worcester Consolidated Street Railway Company, the eight-hour day, and back pay of $175,000 due them under the award of the arbitration board, Manager Page said today that rigid retrenchment plans must be adopted to meet what the company officials term these "stunning demands."

One of the plans, he said, contemplates the abandonment of all unprofitable suburban lines, and all other lines which, under the new schedule will involve a loss.

The lines named as those that probably will be abandoned are: Leicester and Spencer from the Leicester Line terminus; Auburn, North Grafton, Westboro and Marlboro, Northboro and Westboro, and Clinton and Hudson.

Mr. Page said these would be no attempt to increase fares in Worcester in order to meet this crushing demand as a ten-cent fare is all the traffic will stand. In the suburban territory where the fares are seven cents, zones must be shortened or zone fares increased.

"We will operate many more one-man cars," said Mr. Page, "and do away with all non-productive labor."

The arbitration board's decision would add $320,000 a year to the $2,000,000 payroll, he added.

Blue-Blooded Dogs on View Saturday to Aid Hospital, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

MRS. FREDERICK S. WHITWELL is honorary chairman of the annual dog show of the Ladies' Kennel Association of Massachusetts, Inc., which will be held on Saturday at Norumbega Park, Auburndale.

Many of the canine world's most important blue-bloods have been entered for the show, from tiny Chihuahuas to stately Danes. The hours of the affair are from 10 in the morning until 9 in the evening, the proceeds to aid the Holy Ghost Hospital of Cambridge.

Mrs. Paul G. Courtney

Other prominent folk sponsoring Saturday's show include Mrs. Lapz Anderson, Mrs. Horace Binney, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Barron, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Courtney, Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich, Mrs. Edwin S. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Loring Young.

Mrs. Whitwell is pictured above with two of her little Brussels Griffons. The Whitwells will probably spend the Summer, according to their custom, at their Summer place at Osterville on the Cape.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS M. WHITEHOUSE, prominent members of the Gotham colony along the North Shore, are staying at the Essex Country Club for a while until they establish themselves at "Crowhurst," their Manchester Cove estate.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitehouse only recently returned from extensive travels abroad.

TWO young matrons having Boston connections are working busily for the success of the gigantic aigest fair which society is staging from June 25 to 28 at Glen Cove, L. I.

Practically all the well-known folk having country homes in that section of Long Island are lending their support to this mammoth undertaking which will benefit a number of deserving charity institutions.

Among those prominently connected with the street fair are Mrs. Robert A. Lovett (Adele Q. Brown) and Mrs. F. Trubee Davison (Dorothy Peabody, the latter to have charge of the box mart.

It was about four years ago that the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Endicott Peabody became the bride of young Davison, son of the late Henry P. Davison and Mrs. Davison of New York.

Since this event took place, the elder Davison has passed away, leaving a large fortune, and young F. Trubee Davison has embarked upon a political career.

P. O. EMPLOYES WILL RESUME WAGE FIGHT

Spokesmen Declare Veto Is Subject to Action When Congress Reassembles

Washington, June 12.—Announcement was made here by a spokesman of postal employes that the fight for increased pay for 300,000 men and women in the service will be resumed when Congress reassembles in December. The pay increase bill, vetoed by President Coolidge, proposed to add $64,000,000 to the postal payroll.

Supporters of the bill believe that the President's veto would have been overridden in both Houses if an opportunity had been offered to vote on it.

The veto message, under the parliamentary situation, is still before the Senate, since it was not referred to any committee before adjournment.

In view of that it is subject to consideration upon the reassembling of Congress in December.

Officials of the postal employes organizations here declared that the failure of the postal pay increase bill to receive the President's approval will result in many resignations from the service.

CHILDBIRTH WITHOUT PAIN ASSURED

Obstetrician Says No Danger in New Anesthetic; 500 Successful Cases

Chicago, June 12.—Announcement of complete success in painless childbirth, without harm to mother or child was made at the convention of the American Medical Association by Dr. James T. Gwathmey, nationally known obstetrician from New York.

Dr. Gwathmey's process is known as "Synergistic Analgesia," the active principle of which is a drug known as magnesium sulphite.

In February, 1923, in co-operation with Dr. Asa B. Davis of the Lying-In Hospital, New York City, Dr. Gwathmey began intensive research on the problem.

Whatever success was reached by his experiments, he went on, would be governed by two factors. First, the new anaesthetic must be so simple that any physician could use it. Second, the method must be of such a nature that it could be instantly halted if any danger was apparent to mother or child.

Both these results have been accomplished with the new anaesthetic as well as some other results of immense value. The mother suffers no pain in the first place. Again, the process of birth is not delayed and in some instances is hastened. Still again, the baby usually is born crying.

Some 500 maternity cases already have been successfully handled by Dr. Gwathmey's painless childbirth method. After a year of experiment the anaesthetic was standardized and adopted in eight New York hospitals. Doctors who have used it in the 500 successful cases are enthusiastic.

Elks' Flag Day

VAST PURCHASE OF COTTON IN U. S. BY RUSSIA

Buys Nearly $40,000,000 Worth Since Jan. 1, Sending It Home in Own Ships

New York, June 12.—Russia has purchased between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 worth of cotton in the United States since the first of the year, according to Alex Gumbert, vice-president and treasurer of the All-Russian Textile Syndicate, Inc., which handled the purchases. More than $20,000,000 has already been paid by the syndicate, he says.

The purchases total more than 800,000 bales, most of which has been delivered at Murmanskin by Russian ships, according to Mr. Gumbert.

DAY OF GRACE FOR INCOME TAX PAYERS

Federal Second Quarter Due Sunday; Payable on Monday Next

Federal income tax payers gain a day of grace on their second quarterly payments this year on account of June 15 falling on Sunday. But those who delay until Monday will have to take their places in line.

The final rush of those who pay by quarterly instalments has begun, with taxpayers reducing the payments in accordance with reductions provided in the new tax bill.

If a tax payer paid one-fourth of his tax last March he has to pay now only one-half of what he paid in March in order to be square with Uncle Sam to date.

Individual taxpayers who have paid at least three-fourths of the total tax need not submit any further payments as they are allowed 25 per cent. off.

Tinney Describes Battle With Girl

New York, June 12.—Although he took the stand and asserted that it was Imogene Wilson of the Ziedfeld Follies who had attacked him and not vice versa, Frank Tinney, black-face comedian, was held in $2,500 for the grand jury by Magistrate Max Levine in West Side Court.

Magistrate Levine's decision to hold the comedian came after the latter's attorney, Monroe M. Goldstein, moved for dismissal of the charge. The magistrate held that there was sufficient evidence to believe that a crime had been committed and the defendant had committed it.

Magistrate Levine took the occasion to thank the newspapers for the publicity given the case, declaring that it would constitute a warning to other young girls and an assurance to them that they may always find protection in the courts.

Tinney could not have had a more appreciative audience in the theatre where he performs than the audiences composed of the court, lawyers and spectators. They were in a continuous uproar of laughter as he testified.

The comedian told of having been induced by his wife to go to Miss Wilson's flat to tell her to "lay off the publicity stunts." If she was going to kill herself so often, he told her, she shouldn't adhere to the custom of leaving his photograph around.

WARNS JUDGE ON LIKKER.

He began his account of the pals beginnings of the evening. He said:

"I got to the apartment after dinner. Carrie Sneed, the negro maid, was there and Bobby Gray, my mulatto valet. Carrie's sweetie, Frank somebody, and Carrie's sister, Bee, and things looked pretty black.

"Imogene was out, so somebody says won't I have a drink, and—well—I sure will. In a little while I get sick. So I ask Carrie what she put in that drink.

"Scotch and ginger ale, judge. Would you believe it?"

Magistrate Levine would, but wanted to know what was the matter with Scotch and ginger ale?

"Don't ever try it, judge. I was so sick I went in the bedroom and got sicker. The trouble with ginger ale is it won't stay with you."

Presently, Tinney told of hearing Imogene's and a man's voice in the adjoining room and of mistaking the man's voice for that of a friend.—

"So I pulled on Imogene's kimono and stuck Carrie's earrings in my ears and went out there to hand this friend a laugh, and when I got out there I didn't know this guy at all."

REPORTER WITH HER.

"This man said he was the reporter who wrote the story and that he had not named me, but had referred only to a certain well-known comedian.

"Now, I don't claim I'm any well-known comedian, but when a girl takes stills and passes out and leaves a letter to me on the pillow and my photograph where the reporters can find it and calls me up to say she'll meet me somewhere in eternity, I claim this doesn't do me any good."

Tinney then gave his story of the Tinney-Wilson match in the comfort of liberal gesture, beginning his account by peeling down his left sock to show the bench convincing abrasions on his shin:

"I went for my clothes which were locked up in the clothes closet and Miss Wilson jumps at me with an ice pick from the kitchen. I grabbed her hands and she yelled for Carrie.

"Carrie grabs me around the neck. Judge, don't ever try to hold two women at once."

Tinney almost climbed on the bench in his eagerness to show scars on his scalp and neck.

"Wait a minute and I'll show you a lot more.

"We all went down together, me on the bottom, and Carrie on top of me."

ONLY ONE DRINK, BUT—

The magistrate interrupted:

"Were you all sober at that time?"

Tinney ruefully countered:

"Well, I guess we're all sober by now. Honest, I only had one drink, and that didn't stay with me long."

Tinney then asserted that he had been left prisoner in the apartment by reason of the fact that the two women had fled with his outer clothing.

After waiving all night for the trousers of his freedom he departed for the Embassy Hotel nearby, only to become again a wanderer when he reached for cash prepayment on a room and found $2 left of what he alleged had been a bankroll at midnight.

He finally managed in some way not explained to negotiate a loan at a drug store.

NOT OVER FRIENDLY.

Tinney's defence included his assertion that he had never been over-friendly with Imogene; that the apartment in which the assault took place was owned by him; that she had "kicked down the door" to get into and take possession of it, and that, following these and other hysterical actions of the plaintiff, Mrs. Tinney had obliged him to make the visit which ended in a fight.

Tinney's wife and George O'Brien, a theatrical agent, and his friend, and Bobby Gray, Tinney's valet, were all called to give corroborative accounts of two alleged attempts made by Imogene to intimidate Tinney into resuming or entering into intimate relations with her.

To a question put by Magistrate Levine as to whether he really thought Miss Wilson would kill herself, Tinney answered:

"Well, between you and me, it was like the man going to blow out his brains and missing—she tried it twice. The third time—I don't know."

NEVER ATTACKED HER.

"I never attacked her, Judge," Tinney continued. "I come from a good family and we don't do such things. Why, Judge, she attacked me; she did. She came at me with an ice pick this time and I had to hit back, Judge, I did, to protect myself. It wasn't the first time either. She did it once in a taxicab and again at the Pennsylvania Station, and then once she came to my house in the country with a potato knife to cut me up. She's rough.

"Why, Judge," he went on, "she's living in my apartment now, and I can't get her out. No, sir, I never asked her to come there. She got my key one day and just moved in. I pay the rent and I pay the maid but it's not her apartment, it's mine. I can't even get her to move her clothes.

ADMITS BEING EXCITED.

"The day she says I attacked her, I went up there because my wife made me go. We'd heard she intended to commit suicide and blame it on me. My wife said I had to go stop her, that the publicity would be bad. I wanted to stop her and keep the stuff out of the papers."

"Were you excited?" Assistant District Attorney Magee asked.

"Naturally," the comedian replied. "I didn't want anybody to die, especially when they said they were going to leave a note saying I was the cause of it."

"So you had a fight?"

"Yes, but she started it. I never started it."

"But you expected to make up afterward?"

"No, sir," replied the comedian. "No, sir."

PHONE EXPERTS ASKED BY MISS FITZGERALD

Needed to Probe Whole System Before Rates Are Granted, She Declares

"A thorough overhauling, with the public looking in, is the only reasonable procedure before the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company should be granted anything in the way of an increase," Representative Susan W. Fitzgerald, sponsor for the first bill filed in the Legislature seeking an investigation of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., advocates this measure without delay.

Susan Fitzgerald

"Experts—men who know finance and the mechanism of such a corporation as the telephone company, are needed. Whether the $15,000 appropriated the Public Utilities Commission will be sufficient, I do not know, but more help is needed in order to do the thing well.

"The demand of the phone company at least presents an opportunity to explore its relationship with the public and its beneficiaries. A great many persons would like to see the light of publicity upon its dealings with other corporations and the sooner, the better.

"An investigation, just as complete, of the service rendered the public, will not be amiss. It is superfluous to dwell upon the attitude of their affairs.

The service is far from good and everyone is aware of it.

"If an impartial board considers the phone company entitled to more revenue—in view of all the facts unearthed—the public will be satisfied, but it is obvious that when the evidence is in, no such verdict will be reached."

PAINLEVE LEADS IN CAUCUS VOTE

Bitten by Mad Dog

ELSIE BALDEN (ABOVE) AND FLORENCE JEWER

Arlington girls who were attacked by a mad Shepherd dog. Elsie's clothes were almost torn off and Florence was bitten on face and body.

Residents of Arlington Heights were thrown into a panic when a mad Shepherd dog ran amuck through the suburb. Two children were badly bitten by the animal before it was killed.

Elsie B. Balden, eleven-year-old daughter of John C. Balden of No. 162 Charlton street, was not quick enough to escape the mad animal. The dog bit the girl half a dozen times about the arms and legs, tearing off most of her clothing before she fought off the beast.

A short distance away, three-year-old Florence Jewer, daughter of Jacob Jewer of No. 230 Rhinecliff avenue, was playing. The dog attacked the child and before several men could beat off the dog the child's face was badly torn and her body bitten in a number of places.

STUDENT ENDS LIFE; FAILED AT SCHOOL

Whitman High Boy Passed All but One Subject; Shoots Himself

Whitman, June 12.—Dejected because he had failed to pass examination in one subject and would not be graduated with his class, Earl R. Wood, Whitman High School senior, shot himself dead.

The body of the student, who was a star athlete and also active in church work, was found in a clump of bushes back of a gravel pit off Essex street, a mile from his home. A .22 caliber target revolver was by the side of the body, a bullet had penetrated the breast.

Wood was regarded as a bright student in all his studies save history. He was exceptionally bright in chemistry but when he failed in his history examination the school authorities decided that he could not be graduated.

The boy brooded over what he thought a disgrace. So strongly did he take the matter to heart that fellow-students with whom he was popular, presented a petition to the high school authorities asking that Wood be permitted to take another examination in the subject in which he had failed. No action was ever taken on the petition.

Wood asked to be excused from school sessions for the day. The request was granted. He spent several hours sitting in the park, brooding.

Some hours later, John Hannigan, hunting for birds' nests, found the body. The shot had entered just above the heart, and the student had been dead for several hours.

When the parents of the boy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Woods, who live at No. 197 Temple street, were notified, the mother collapsed. Her condition is serious.

ITALIAN DEPUTY AND DOCUMENTS MISSING

Rome, June 12.—Signor Matteotti, Socialist Deputy, has disappeared and the police have been unable to obtain any trace of his whereabouts. It was today reported in the Chamber of Deputies.

Signora Matteotti, in reporting the disappearance of her husband, said that he had with him a number of documents which he had intended to use in a speech in the chamber against the government. Premier Mussolini has ordered the police to renew their efforts to find him.

"3,000,000 VOTES" FOR PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE

Chicago, June 12.—Robert R. Pointer of Dearborn, Mich., nominee of the People's Progressive Party for President, today is on his way to the West to begin an active campaign.

Pointer, who organized "Henry Ford for President" clubs until Ford endorsed President Coolidge, said 3,000,000 voters sent in their pledges for Ford. Pointer declared that he believed he would get 75 per cent. of those pledges.

ALLEGED WHITE SLAVER ARRAIGNED

Emmanuel Cruze of Valley Falls, R. I., said to be the leader of a white slave band that has been operating extensively throughout New England, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Jenney in the Federal Building today. Cruze, brought to Boston from New Bedford by Deputy United States Marshal Joseph Winston, was held in $5,000.

Cruze was arrested in the Rocky Hill station on the outskirts of Milford by Chief of Police John J. Mahoney of that town. He is charged with violation of the Mann act in transporting Priscilla Cequeria from New Bedford to Pawtucket.

TO PICK CURTIS OF KANSAS FOR SECOND PLACE

lot as there were a lot of native son complimentary votes to be recorded. But the drift was unmistakable.

Senator Fess, of Ohio, said the Ohio delegation would fall into line soon after the first ballot.

The states lined up for Curtis on the first ballot were, Kansas, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Utah, California and New Mexico, and most of the Illinois delegation. On the second ballot there were promised the votes of all Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska, Washington, both Dakotas and Minnesota.

PRACTICALLY CLINCHED.

At 10:25 word reached the convention floor that the New York and Pennsylvania delegations—the two largest in the convention—had just passed down from a hotel and voted for Curtis.

"That clinches it," said the Kansas's friends.

Even while Bishop Schrembs' prayer was going out over the heads of the delegates, word passed around the convention hall that fourteen agricultural States had been lined up for Curtis.

"He's in," whispered one of the leaders, while trying to look solemn.

Norris Is Nebraska's Vice-Presidential Choice

Cleveland, June 12 (U.N.S.).—Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, will be Wisconsin's selection for Vice-President. The insurgent delegation held a caucus after the news came through that Senator Borah was out of the running and decided to cast their votes for Norris.

All possibility of the Wisconsin delegation bolting the convention disappeared today when Governor James J. Blaine announced that his delegation would "stick and see this show out."

"Wisconsin never quits," he said. "I am not surprised to hear that Senator Borah refused to be a running mate with the convention's Presidential 'nominee.' He could hardly do so standing on the platform the party adopted last night."

AUTO RUNS WILD IN ROSLINDALE

Joseph Todesca, of No. 105 Walworth street, Roslindale, came out of the house at No. 29 Oakfield terrace just in time to see the automobile he had left beside the curbing suddenly start and roll down the hill.

The driverless machine dashed through a fence owned by Mary Sullivan, bounced back and, taking a new tack, crashed into the street sign post, cutting it off at the base. Then it came to a stop with the front badly damaged.

U. S. CUTTER FIRES ON RUM RUNNER

Portland, Me., June 12—Shots were fired by the coast guard cutter Cwsipeo at a boat believed to be a rum runner, off Monhegan, Tuesday, Captain Randolph Ridgely reported upon his return to Portland. The boat kept on her course and soon got out of range of the cutter.

Condemns sale of official favors.

BURTON HALTED BY BLASTS OF APPLAUSE

Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 12.—Thirty minutes after the hour set for Republican national convention today the aisles were clogged with delegates talking about the vice-presidency. There were many empty seats in the galleries.

Leaders were called to the platform for hurried conferences and then sent to parts of the hall or to conference rooms outside.

The Uncle Sams, a marching club of Buffalo, N. Y., brought in a touch of color, coming into the hall led by a fife and drum corps.

It was known that Senator Beveridge had received a telegram from Senator Borah authorizing him to withdraw his name if it were presented to the convention. Senator Beveridge sent back word to Mr. Borah urging him not to decline the nomination and was waiting for a reply.

DEPEW ABSENT.

It was 10:40 when Chairman Mondell began rapping for order.

Then Bishop Schrembs of the Roman Catholic diocese of Cleveland offered prayer.

After the delegates sang "America" Senator Wadsworth of New York offered a resolution to send a telegram to Chauncy M. Depew, who was unable to come to the convention for the first time since the nomination of Lincoln.

Then the chair called for the names of the new national committeemen and the State delegations responded as they were called.

While this was going on word went out from the Wisconsin delegates that they would support Senator Norris of Nebraska for Vice-President.

CHEER FOR BUTLER.

William M. Butler and Frank W. Stearns took seats on the platform. There was some applause and some cheering when Butler's name was called as a new committee member. He sat on the platform looking calmly over the delegates and gave no response to the greetings.

The vice-presidential conferring went on among the delegates while the committee names were being called and the Kentucky delegation let it be known that it had not abandoned Lowden and would vote for him despite his repeated declinations.

When Secretary Mellon rose to call the names from Pennsylvania he gave the name of the committeewoman first, in spite of courtesy, but before he could announce the name of the man the reading clerk reversed the order and gave the name of Senator Pepper first. The convention got a laugh out of it.

When the clerk called for Wisconsin's names the convention was turned in that direction with expectancy. The names were given as usual, however, and the clerk went on to the next State without any demonstration.

OLD GUARD MARCHES IN.

The chairman then recognized Representative Ogden L. Mills of New York, to move the formal election of the committeemen and committeewomen, which just had been named. There was no dissent.

A delegation from the Defenders of the Union then marched down the center aisle, headed by Senator Willis of Ohio, while the convention rose to its feet.

The Civil War veterans carried their muskets and the convention sang "Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching." The delegation was composed of the Old Guard of Columbus, Ohio.

Then, on behalf of the convention, Chairman Mondell thanked the Old Guard for coming. The old men filed out at carry arms to the accompaniment of cheers and applause.

FIVE-MINUTE LIMIT.

Marion O. Humphreys, Maryland, offered a resolution to limit second speeches for nominations of President to five minutes. The convention was not long in adopting that.

At the call of the roll for nominations for President, Alabama yielded to Massachusetts. Governor Channing H. Cox moved that Dr. Marion Leroy Burton be accorded the privilege of placing in nomination "The candidate of Massachusetts."

So, as it turned out, Dr. Burton spoke as representing Massachusetts, the President's home, instead of Michigan, his own.

Dr. Burton, a tall, striking figure, stepped briskly to the front of the platform and calmly surveyed the great audience, waiting for the applause and cheering to die down.

STOPPED BY APPLAUSE.

"Fellow citizens of America, the greatest country the world has ever seen," he began, while the hall rocked with cheering. He spoke clearly and rapidly, without manuscript, but followed his prepared address generally, shortening it here and there, but preserving the sense of the speech he had prepared, and which undoubtedly was approved by President Coolidge.

At one point, when Dr. Burton was stopped by applause, he remarked:

"You know we appreciate your applause, but I wish you would keep quiet and wait until I have really said something. I think this business of public speaking in America is a vice, but remember, in this speech I not only have to hear it, I have to make it."

PARADE BEGINS.

Dr. Burton's speech brought the convention to its feet with an outburst of cheering and applause, and the procession of delegates started around the floor, with Vermont in the lead.

Other delegates quickly followed, carrying their State standards and soon the aisles were choked with a cheering throng. Some rebel yells were interspersed in the demonstration.

Boys from Plymouth, Vt., carried a banner reading: "We are all members of the Home Town Coolidge Club."

At first the demonstrations did not have the inspiration of music to spur it on, but soon they got going to the accompaniment of the band which played a gallop. The demonstration was all for Coolidge, a noisy, but hearty one.

Senator Curtis to Accept—if He Is Nominated

Washington, June 12.—Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas indicated today he would accept the Republican vice-presidential nomination should it be offered by the convention. He said:

"I am greatly appreciative of the efforts being made in my behalf by my friends.

"I consider a nomination by the Republican party to be a great honor whether for the presidency, the vice-presidency or any other office.

Curtis was forced to stay away from the Cleveland convention by the illness of his wife.

DAUGHTER OF ROOSEVELT IS OPPOSED

By JAMES R. NOURSE

Cleveland, June 12 (Universal Service), Convention Hall.—A lively fight developed in the Ohio delegation over the suggestion of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth as the woman member from that State on the national committee.

Most of the women members of the delegation declared they wanted someone else, some of them declaring she is too "uppish" and, Good Lord, they say she smokes!

Mrs. John Gordon Battelle of Columbus was elected by the Ohio delegation. The name of Mrs. Longworth was not placed in nomination and Mrs. Battelle was unanimously chosen.

STAY HOME, JUDGE TELLS LADY SLEUTH

Providence, R. I., June 12.—Judge Frederick Reicortt has decided Mrs. Jessie Smith, formerly of Roxbury, Mass., better quit sleuthing as a liquor spotter for the police department and give most, if not all her time to looking after her three small children.

The S. P. C. A. prosecuted Mrs. Smith for alleged neglect of her children. It was testified that she lived at a hotel here some time ago and allowed the children to get along as best they could in a tent pitched on a vacant lot.

DESCRIBES FRENZIED MARCH OF CHEERING DELEGATES

By NORMAN HAPGOOD
Editor Hearst's International Magazine.

Cleveland, June 12 (Universal).—As we enter the convention hall, after a good dinner to the most cheerful music the band can make, there is something actually exhilarating in the atmosphere. Why not? We have heard the news.

Even the regulars, some of them, will be glad to have the minority get up and make a little noise. They have something of the boy in them. What harm can it do to let them have a little run for his money before the pop descends for good?

Holman Hapgood.

"LONG, LONG TRAIL."

Here is Mondell again. His gavel finally induces us to sit down. He has us all sing, "The End of a Long, Long Trail." Why? So that, at the end of the song, he could descry, at the end of the trail, "Republican victory."

The first time I ever heard that useful device employed was in Madison Square Garden, when Bourke Cockran had the band play, "My Country," whereupon he was able to open the speech with this query: "With the strains of that music still ringing in our ears can anyone doubt the outcome of this election?"

Mr. Warren is now on the stage. In accents of irony he states that on the platform, about to be read, is reported unanimously "except for the member from my own State."

PRAISE OF HARDING.

He repeats that statement about the member from one State. Mild tears from the delegates. A cheer from one of the Wisconsin delegates. Then a few words of praise for President Harding, especialy for his arms conference.

Then a signal.

Warren adds it was fortunate that Coolidge was ready to take up the burden.

The innocent spectator might have supposed that some demon of enthusiasm swept the hitherto quiet hall. Father, grandfathers, uncles, wives and mothers and aunts jump to their feet. The great flashlights dazzle our eyes. The band sings enthusiasm to our ears.

Around and around march the delegation, State by State, banners swinging, throats shouting, lips whistling. Now it is darkened for contrast. Now lightened again. The names of the States are swinging in the air.

WISCONSIN BALKS.

All except one. That one delegation, still smiling, taking the signalled demonstration for what it is, remains coolly in its seats, with fiery noise, as if to shame the immovable dissenters.

Around and around, and around, and Wisconsin sits and smiles.

All but one. The one Coolidge man on the delegation stands up. He has the courage of his convictions also.

Perhaps the reason the 28 are so cheerful as the sea of noise surges around them is that they remember what happened at the open hearings when the La Follette planks were presented. The committee was firm, but the galleries were noisy for the Wisconsin spokesman. The radicals think that gallery is a symbol.

Now out of the confusion emerges another fact. Our eyes have focused on Wisconsin. But in North Dakota also six men have remained seated throughout the music and the cheers.

As the demonstration subsides, Mr. Mondell calls attention to what he maintains is the true enthusiasm. Well, maybe. It is actually enthusiasm, in the sense that there is a satisfaction, among the delegates, that the lines are clearly drawn.

NO SURRENDER

It may mean defeat, as they freely admit in private, but there will be no surrender to the radicals. Here are a band of brothers, worthy of one another's confidence. Here is a real party, ready to do or die, riters in conservatism, without hypocrisy and unafraid.

Now off goes Warren on the long job of reading the platform and we can relax. We do not have to listen. We know about it already. Also if anybody wrote a short, crisp platform in these days the politicians would think he was crazy. To say much in few words may be literature. To say little in many words is politics.

Henry Cabot Lodge's seat is in the front row. There, to the seeing eye, is a story. Lodge did effective work in breaking Wilson. Rebelling against Coolidge is another story.

When Lodge rebels against Coolidge he also rebels against a spare, elegant looking gentleman who sits with the Pennsylvania delegates a little further back, and in rebelling against Andrew Mellon he is preserving swords with the powers that actually rule.

WADSWORTH UNAFRAID

Just wait a little and you will see that Henry is really a good boy, and in big things will do as he is told.

Cast your eye back a few rows. That bold, fairly young looking statesman is the famous Jimmy Wadsworth. He is of the type that rushes this convention strong, whether for good or ill, whether for victory or defeat. He fears nobody, not even his constituents.

He has never stood for any nonsense and he never will. No fancy notions for him. La Follette and all the cohorts of change are viewed by him with easy contempt.

You see, just a few rows along, Nicholas Murray Butler, leaning back and smiling, looking prosperous and standing for what the G. O. P. takes for scholarship. The smooth machine has quietly run over his pet idea about liquor, but he smiles on. Perhaps he still thinks the lightning may hit him some time.

There is another Butler, but he is not so conspicuous. He is the field-marshal and he is busy all the time. His seat is in that row upon the platform behind the speakers, with the national committee. He is not in it at the moment. He is out of it a good deal of the time. People need him. They get their orders from him. And those orders go.

"LAME DUCK" PRESIDES

Yes, this wiry statesman in the seat of permanent chairman is the famous Mondell, a "lame duck" now, but not forgotten. The forces of conservatism never forget. Mondell in the good old days of Roosevelt was a valiant leader against every reform that the Rough Rider sougat to bring about.

In the group that ushered Mondell to the platform was one woman. The presence of the women and their activities help to give what color it has to this convention.

But the presence of this particular woman, Mrs. Eaton of California, and her sister stateswomen, are more than color they mark one of the largest changes of history.

And this vast change just comes about when machinery takes woman's many jobs out of the house into the factory and the office, and her results will continue to grow in the most standpat groups as in the most liberal.

NEEDS NO AMPLIFIER.

But listen. The orator's strong voice flows along the benches of delegates on the floor. It floods the balconies where the ordinary people sit and at the right signal exclaim in low tones to another, "Don't that wonderful?"

The perfected amplifier, which struck us all when Mr. Harding was beginning his Presidency as a miraculous invention, is now sufficient to make the voice of even the old man who saw Lincoln nominated carry to the four corners of the hall. For the energetic tones of Mondell it is not needed.

He is giving it to the heathen, full and plenty. No doubt here. No flirting with change. As I wake with a start from a brief refuge in memory I hear phrases I thought long since dead.

I had been with a friend in the truly wonderful gallery here, choice and exquisite, full of triumphs of the human mind that never lose their youth. I awoke to hear an orator still patriting with pride and viewing with alarm.

BADGERS STAND PAT.

And how he did hand it to that Pompadour Villian who is haunting every mind and who surely must be his. The delegates from Wisconsin did not care. Indeed, as the regular trained delegates arose and applauded the "lame duck's" fury those from the badger state just sat tight and smiled. They like the cards in their hand.

The more the antiquarian leaders of both parties hammer them the better they feel. Like the well known stormy petrel they live well in trouble. They believe a prairie fire has begun to burn.

Some of us journalists here give a private theatre entertainment, in which some elephants performed. At a word from the trainer they laid down and pretended to be dead. Then they pretended to step on the trainer, and even to sit on him. But they never hurt him. They always did what they were told to do. Mondell, like Burton, drops a tear that the Republican elephant seems to be forgetting some of the discipline for which he is famous.

"THE SINGLE HERO."

Mondell and the Wisconsin delegation do not see the facts in just the same way. Mondell is carrying on a strategy evolved with care by the best minds. They figure that nobody loves Congress. One cannot love a crowd. One loves a single warrior, like the President.

Cleveland, Roosevelt and others have worked this idea of the single hero appealing against the composite villainy of both Houses, so why not Coolidge?

Wisconsin will tell you why, if you stroll around with its delegates and discuss Burton and Mondell or the bigger figures behind them. They remind you that in other days most leaders, however disgruntled, needed to be regular. They could not afford to get actually off the reservation.

This year, they say, it is different. Senators Frazier and Ladd represent the Republicans of North Dakota. Watch them laugh at the whip.

FROM MINNESOTA.

Senators Shipstead and Magnus Johnson have dropped the label, but they represent what was once the Republican vote of Minnesota.

The redoubtable Brookhart has just shown what he can do with Iowa, and he is among the chief villains that arouse the wrath of the lame duck.

There are many, many more besides the redoubtable Wisconsin chief himself.

This year, in short, asking the country to condemn Congress will not be knocking down a straw hat, for Congress will fight back.

Protests Pictures On U. S. Flag at G. O. P. Convention

Aurora, Ill., June 12.—Dr. H. J. Cigrand, president of the National Flag Day Association, wired a protest to Chairman Mondell of the Republican convention at Cleveland against the placing of pictures upon the American flag. His telegram follows:

"Information comes to me from many sources that on the United States flag displayed on the Republican convention stage there are pictures. Proper respect for the national emblem would impel their removal."

Mrs. Solomon at the Convention

By HELEN ROWLAND.
(Copyright, 1924, by I. N. S., Inc.)

Cleveland, O., June 12.—This was "ladies day" at the Republican convention—short and sweet and full of pep and song and sentiment; with just one beautiful "bomb bursting in air" when Paul Howland announced that Republican women are no longer to be men's better one-tenth-of-one-per cent., but, at least fifty per cent., of the Republican party.

From now on, as far as the committee on arms is concerned, it's going to be a fifty-fifty affair, just like modern marriage.

The women can work just as hard as they want to, hold half the jobs on the national committee, and then go home and "clean up politics," if the men haven't made such a mess of things that not even a woman can clean up after them.

Of course a man's idea is that a woman always cleans up anything, merely by running a straw through it, anyway. And he never struggles for a chance to do the dishes.

But as far as I could make out, from what Mr. Howland said, everything is to be fifty-fifty.

The women have a full vote apiece, and half the say in everything—provided they will go right on letting the men have their way, as usual. The men delegates can still take off their hats in the elevators—but the ladies can remove theirs, too. The feminine half of the party can both their hair or leave it alone—but the men can have a permanent wave, and a mud pack, if they like. Perfectly fair.

ALL CLEVELAND KEEPS COOL AND CALM

By O. O. McINTYRE
Copyright, 1924, by INS, Inc.

Cleveland, O., June 12.—It is my opinion that they have played a dirty trick on the fine city of Cleveland. This convention should have been held at Horsecough, Arizona—or where men are men and the scrubbing is terrible.

Horsecough will get excited about anything. This convention might have caused a ripple there. But in Cleveland nobody seems to realize that history is in the making.

They are all keeping cool with Coolidge.

I countered out—till New Yorkers summer—to Superior avenue.

I sought out a street sweeper.

"Where," I asked, "is the convention?"

"The only convention I know anything about is the house detectives' convention at the Hollenden," he replied—and showed his contempt for a fire plug by ignoring it.

The best description of this convention was overheard across the court in my hotel. Two manicure girls were talking. Said one: "This convention is certainly a rush-around. It is the blackberry's sister—the raspberry. A lot of people came here who never slept in a hotel bedroom in their life—big town stuff. They take a bath every night to use the towels and steal the soap for souvenirs. They bring a dinner pail and a shirt and then don't change either."

BRYAN HOLDS HIS HAT.

V. V. McNitt took me over and introduced me to W. J. Bryan. He's the man who used to try for what Coolidge hopes for. I have always admired the great Commoner. I'm one of 'em. I bite my nails and wouldn't know a pate de fois gras if one jumped up in my lap. Hurrah for the great Common people—including the house detectives.

Mr. Bryan says he must be never submitted to the Tarzan of the apes who snatch your hats in cafes. When he comes to conventions he wears a small hat he can tuck in his pocket. Hat check brigands will never vote for him.

COOLIDGE PLANK STARTS ROW IN COMMITTEE

La Follette's Man Calls It "Canned Platform" and Urges Watson to Fight It

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Cleveland, June 12.—President Coolidge's only personally written plank in the whole 1924 Republican platform was the one to cause the greatest friction in secret sessions of the convention's platform committee.

The plank reaffirming the government's desire to remain out of the League of Nations developed a serious row before its authorship was revealed. At the last moment, to avert a fight against the anti-league plank by delegates who desired a stronger denunciation of the league, it was announced the President had written it and peace was restored.

WATSON STARTS FIGHT.

The Coolidge plank read:

"This government has definitely refused membership in the League of Nations, and to assume any obligations under the covenant of the league. On this we stand."

The fight was started by Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, who desired to insert as the league plank a statement by the President in his first message to Congress. He did not then know the President had written the original plank.

"My whole life, political career and every breath is dedicated to opposing the league," Watson told his fellow committee members. "This plank is too weak."

The vote was taken and the committee rejected Watson's substitute.

Watson declared he would carry his fight to the floor of the convention.

"You can't do it, Jim," said Charles B. Warren, chairman of the committee, "because this plank was personally written by the hand of President Coolidge."

EGGED ON BY COOPER.

Representative Henry Allen Cooper, La Follette's lieutenant, leaped to his feet.

"That's it, Watson," Cooper roared. Take it to the floor. It's a canned platform and they are trying to jam it down our throats. Don't take that canned platform, Jim."

A chorus of wild cries followed Cooper's charge. Chairman Warren and J. Ogden Mills, one of the President's spokesmen, indignantly denied Cooper's statement.

"That's not the truth," Mills shouted. "It's not a canned platform. The President only wrote the five lines dealing with the League of Nations. We, the members of the committee, wrote the rest of it."

Finally Watson changed his mind. "No, no, boys. I'm a party man and a good Republican. I won't carry it to the floor."

MASSACHUSETTS DELEGATES "DOING THEIR STUFF" AS COOLIDGE IS NOMINATED

By JO SWERLING

Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 12.—The curtain rises on the last act of the political farce caustically termed by Will Rogers "The Coolidge Follies." There are larger gups in the gallery than there were yesterday.

"Tomorrow," comments John P. Deering of Saco, Maine, is "Friday, the thirteenth. I'm glad the convention is scheduled to end today.

John P. Deering James Lucy

I'm not superstitious, but—" "Jim" Lucey, the cobbler prophet of Northampton, is still sold heavy on Marion Leroy Burton.

Jim informed reporters that he used to make Cal's shoes, and Cal became President. He also used to make Burton's shoes, when Burton lived in Northampton in 1910, and therefore, said Jim, it stands to reason that Burton will be nominated for vice-president.

Hearing this, James S. Chamberlain of Durham, N. H., stepped up to Lucey, gave him the size of his feet and ordered a pair of shoes.

Most of the male delegates, even those who are most unreasonably partisan, agree that from the shining point of view the convention has been a flop. Not so with the ladies. They have had the times of their lives.

The ladies from New England have packed in a year's social events in the few days they've been here. Among those who have not missed one of the numberless teas, receptions, luncheons and parties are Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird of Walpole and Mrs. Sadie Lipner Shulman of Boston; Mrs. Jessie Donahue of Manchester, N. H.; Mrs. Anna Prichard of Peterboro, N. H., and Mrs. Arthur D. Porter of Greenfield, Mass.

The Cleveland Sob sisters have been criticizing the attire of the women delegates. "This is a convention," remarked Mrs. Shulman, "not a fashion show."

The Emporium at Charlestown, R. I. for whatever the department store in that town is called) won't get much trade from Mrs. Lulu M. Schlesinger for a while after she returns from the convention. She took advantage of early adjournments to visit Cleveland department stores, and it required several bell hops to lug her purchases to her hotel room.

Dr. Hill, chancellor of the Lincoln Memorial University, got an unprogrammed laugh at the rally in Massachusetts headquarters at the Hollenden, when in the midst of an impassioned address, he thundered: "Calvin Coolidge will roll up a tremendous Republican majority at the coming collection—er, I mean convention."

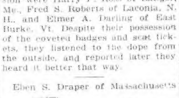
Despite the frequent rains, it is getting more and more difficult to keep Cool with Coolidge. In addition to the fact that the Wisconsin delegates are hot under the collar, the general humidity is causing a number of delegates to listen to the convention stuff from the outside of the Public Hall, where there are "loud-speakers" to broadcast to the populace.

Among the New England delegates who enjoyed the outdoor session were Harry F. Ross of Bangor, Me., Fred S. Roberts of Laconia, N. H., and Elmer A. Darling of East Barke. Despite their possession of the coveted badges and seat tickets, they listened to the dope from the outside, and reported later they heard it better that way.

Ellen S. Draper of Massachusetts



Mrs. S. I. Shulman Mrs. C. S. Bird

feels he has been unjustly discriminated against and there is a move afoot to send a committee from the Bay State delegation to a local newspaper that printed a picture of Grind D. Benton of Oberlin, Kansas, as the tallest man at the convention. Benton stands 6 feet, 3¾ inches tall. "But he wears high-heeled shoes," Draper pointed out bitterly. "In our stocking feet add top him by at least a thirty-second of an inch."

When young John Hamlin of Boston decided to introduce a Coolidge yell at the convention, to land some sorely need pep to the proceedings, he solicited the aid of the various New England groups. It is with no small degree of pride that we report that the winning yell was finally composed by a reporter of the Boston American, whose name we are too modest to print.

The Coolidge yell, already made the official yell of the college bureau of the Republican National Committee, reads like this:

C-A-L;
G-O-P;
What's the answer?
Victory.

FIGHT ON RUSSIAN LEGATION PROPERTY

Peking, June 12 (A.P.).—A Foreign office inquiry as to whether the powers that are signers of the protocol covering control of the legation quarter, would surrender the Russian legation property, has brought a response that any communication regarding the matter must be addressed by a representative of the present Soviet regime in Russia to the diplomatic body direct.

Presumably the inquiry was a result of China's recent agreement with Russia, one phase of which was an undertaking by China to turn over the Russian legation and consular property to the present Russian government.

FRANCE PRESENTS HISTORIC TAPESTRY

Philadelphia, June 12.—A Gobelin tapestry, portraying the departure of American troops from this country during the World War, was today presented to this city by Jules Jusserand, French ambassador, on behalf of the French government.

The tapestry, by Jaulmes, depicts a column of troops marching past Independence Hall, Philadelphia, on their way to France.

M. Jusserand said those who look at the Gobelin tapestry will be reminded of the common ideal for which this country and France fought side by side in the Revolutionary War and the World War.

TO DEMONSTRATE PNEUMONIA CURE

New York, June 12.—Dr. Leander Tomarkin, who came here from Rome to give clinical demonstrations of his pneumonia cure, announced he would establish a research laboratory in this city. There he will continue his research work in tuberculosis and search for clews of contagious diseases.

His tuberculosis remedy, which he calls "beatrin tomarkin," is being tried especially in cases of primary and secondary tuberculosis. Dr. Tomarkin said that for anatomical reasons there can never be a cure for tuberculosis in the third or advanced stage. He declared the injection of beatrin shows results in one month. Dr. Tomarkin is only twenty-nine years old and has been engaged in research work since he was eighteen.

HARD WORK FOR 'FEATURE' WRITERS

Cleveland Convention Lacks Thrills Even of Poker Sessions

By JACK LAIT.

Cleveland, O., June 12 (I. N. S.).—The trouble with attending the Republican convention is that a fellow doesn't know what to do with his afternoons. Formerly the assembled history-makers would start sessions early and dash right through with out lunch, time out between rounds or a stretch in the seventh inning.

But the Butler elephants don't work on the "continuous" system; one morning show a day and out and no encores. An evening show, maybe, and call it a day. That's the stage manager's schedule.

It's all right for the young reporters who have to peep through keyholes and listen through cracks at the headquarters, each with a secret dream that he may steal a scoop that will thrill the world and make him immortal—such as bringing to his paper the first and exclusive tip on whom the Republicans are going to nominate for President.

But to the feature writers, who are too high hat to dig useful news, and who are here trying to outsneer each other in a contest of wise cracks, their afternoons are long at years, as years whose afternoons are long.

Poker, which was once the pastime of the deans, scribes and stars, is as obsolete as a threat to bolt the party.

Time was when one could fraternize with party leaders or the delegate gang from home. Now, how can a guy find them.

WOMEN URGED TO WORK FOR COOLIDGE

Cleveland, June 12.—Republican women of the country were urged to put their shoulders to the wheel and work for the election of Calvin Coolidge in November, at a meeting today of Republican women attending the National Convention. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Leonard A. Wood of Pennsylvania.

"Just because Mr. Coolidge is to be nominated so easily, you must not think that his election will come so easy," Mrs. Wood cautioned the women. "Every woman must get out and work."

The meeting adopted a resolution of thanks to the women of Cleveland for their hospitality during the convention.

BRAVES LOSE FINAL TO CARDS; CUBS PLAY HERE TODAY

WINNING STREAK IS BROKEN

Will Killefer ... the Chicago Cubs into town this morning, with a new ... tion of parking ... be fore he leaves Saturday night Will is exactly one game behind the champion Giants at the present writing, and figures he can make that up in the course of three quarrels. With which sentiments the Braves, of course, do not agree.

The Wigwam athletes have so many .300 hitters in their midst that they are beginning to expect great things. They dropped the last one to the Cards, but a single rift in a series will never be missed. Besides the Cards ... a couple more than the rest.

The defeat did show the frosted Boston fans that young Mister Yeargin is quite a pitcher, and one who is likely to go a long way in the large show. With any kind of support, he would have walked the Cards entirely, after Benton had been chased.

The inviting ... of the season ... afternoon and ... attendance ... Braves' park. ... Hendricks ... Marchison, Jack ... Al Lawson, Al Lewis, Lou Clarke and a dozen other great sprinters.

Country's Track Stars Face Final Tryouts

... afternoon the stars of the country, veter... collegiate ... ways, will contend for five ... honors for the ... and to make ... American Olympic team, which right will be again acted upon in the final competition of Saturday.

For two days the stars of the track and field army which the nation has mastered through sectional tryouts and collegiate meets will contest on the Stadium track and in the field pits and thousands will look on to see the stirring competition.

The arrival of Charlie Paddock in Boston today competed the list of veterans for the race, and the fastest human may work out at Technology Field this afternoon, merely to limber up for the great sprinting ... which he must meet tomorrow ... afternoon.

STARS OF NET GAME GATHER FOR TITLE GO

St. Louis, Mo., June 12.—International ... known ... will participate in the National Clay Court Tennis Championship to be held here beginning July 5. Some of them are regarded by tennis critics as stronger ... than ... players who will represent the United States in the Olympic tournament, at Paris.

At least six players ranking among the first ten in ability will be seen in the St. Louis matches.

The prominent entries to date are:

William T. Tilden II, holder of the national and clay court singles championships.

Brian I. C. Norton, young English player, who was defeated by ... in the finals of the world ... championship at Wimbledon, England, in 1921.

Howard and Robert Kinsey, of California, holders of the clay court doubles championship.

Clarence J. ("Peck") Griffin, of San Francisco, a former clay court singles champion and a former national doubles champion, with William M. Johnston.

Joe Armstrong, of St. Paul Minn., former intercollegiate champion.

"Wendy" Welner, protege ... and doubles partner of Tilden, who is considered a future champion, although only sixteen years old.

Preliminary advices indicate a field of entries of lesser lights from all parts of the United States.

Relieved from early fears that the Olympic games might detract seriously from this year's clay court tournament, the St. Louis Amateur Athletic Association has determined to make the event the best of its kind ever held. A special entertainment fund of $6,000 to make the visitors welcome has been raised.

SOX MUST FIGHT HARD TO HOLD FIRST PLACE

Cleveland, O., June 12.—The Boston team is still deadlocked for first place in the American League race, thanks to the beating administered the champion Yankees by Detroit at the same time the Red Sox were losing a 5 to 4 ... to the Cleveland Indians. Boston will try to keep pace with or pass the New York ... tomorrow.

Jack Quinn

Jack Quinn having failed him in the opening game of the series with the Indians, Lee Fohl will call upon Jack Ferguson to go forth and slay the redskins today. The Red Sox and Indians both collected ten hits in Wednesday's game, but the Ohioans were better able to group their swats, which really decided the issue.

Boston failed to get out in front largely because of the failure of Big Ike Boone to push the ball safely past the Indian sentinels in the outfield. Five times Boone went up to the plate and only once did he reach first. Then when Chick Fewster, a former Bostonian ... drew wild on his grounder Isaac was completely mystified by the southpaw shants of Joe Shaute and his failure to dent the wall hurt severely.

NEPONSET TEAM TO PLAY MATTAPAN

The Neponset Town Team will meet the Mattapan team at the Dorchester Town field on Friday evening Mattapan has been going along at a fast clip.

Manager Jim Butler has a couple of players on the crippled list, but will replace them with the best players obtainable, and will show the fans a first-class team The game will start at 6.15 to insure a nine inning game.

PRINCETON DEFEATS JAPS IN BASEBALL

By bunching hits in the first and seventh innings, Princeton easily took the measure of Meiji University of Japan, 10 to 2. The game marked the last workout for the Tigers before the clash with Yale Saturday Clark worked his three pitchers Charley Caldwell was pounded hard in two innings, but Townsend pitched splendid ball and may get the call to start against the Elis

The Shepard Six Shoe... for the Active Man

For the man who walks, golfs, and hikes energetically and who wants absolute comfort for his feet as well. A "Shepard Six" shoe—practical, well built, and good looking, with cushion-like sole of resilient crepe rubber that absorbs all the jars. Equally as practical for street wear. Remember, crepe wears three times as long as leather.

The grandfathers of most of the present generation of smokers knew PIPPINS. That doesn't prove anything until you stop to think that PIPPINS are now even more popular than in their day. Think of it—the fine Sumatra wrapper holds just clean long filler. No dust, no scraps. A fragrant aroma and absolute mildness. With such amazing value —there simply isn't any other cigar like PIPPINS at the price.

ZBYSZKO AND STASIAK IN BIG MAT BATTLE TONIGHT

LOOK FOR FURIOUS TUSSLE

By RINGSIDE.

Stanislaus Zbyszko, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, against Stanley Stasiak in a finish mat bout, best two falls out of three, at the Boston Arena tonight. This is the feature tussle of a great mat card arranged by Paul Bowser.

Stasiak recently virtually won the world's championship when he scored the only fall in his match with Strangler Lewis, just as he was about to count with a second fall. Lewis used several strange holds from one of which Stasiak knocked up the champion with a couple of stiff punches. Lewis handpicked referee then handed him the decision on a foul. At the most he should only have awarded the title holder a fall.

Ernest Burbank of this city will be referee tonight. That assures both wrestlers of a fair deal.

Angelo Taramaschi, Italian champion, will oppose Ole Jacobson. Norwegian [illegible] in the semi-final.

Paul Bowser has secured office accommodations at Room 20, No. 376 Washington street and at the Boston Arena where reserves as may be secured.

GREEN DEFEATS CRIMSON, 8 TO 4

Dartmouth again proved the victor over the Crimson, taking the scalp of John Harvard back to Hanover after a dexterity Green 8 to 4 battle. Harvard, playing bad baseball, weakened in the pinches, with the result that the first three innings easily allotted the victory to the Indians. The Green nine [illegible] York man pitched exceptionally well although Lyon, in the box, was not accorded all the support that might have been requested.

The Crimson hopes were shattered in the first frame, when singles by Harris and Silverman brought in Dagnesino. Fox and Harris. The Harvard sluggers got busy during the last of the inning and earned two easy runs. W. d fielding allowed both scores to cross the plate.

Another Dartmouth run came in in the [illegible] when the Green tallies in the [illegible] were due to the champion base stealing of Smith, who successfully made second, third and home before Harvard discovered the theft. Shaneman's homer accounted for another Dartmouth score, while Harvard's final outburst, in the eighth, accounted for a pair.

FRENCH SYSTEM OF SCORING FLAYED

New York, June 12—A clash between American and French Olympic authorities over the system of point scoring for the track and field championships at Paris in July loomed today, when Frederick W. Rubien, secretary of the American Olympic committee, issued a statement declaring this country would not recognize the French decision to score events on the basis of ten points for first place, with the next five places graded from five points to one point in order.

Moody and Malone

MOODY

Moody Hits Hard Enough to Kayo Malone

By JACK CONWAY

What will happen if Jack M[illegible] in Great Britain during the [illegible] right hand punch [illegible] Mechanics Building [illegible]

When Moody scored [illegible] that worthy out for the [illegible]

That same punch [illegible] he will also send the [illegible] harder than any American [illegible] ary speed and [illegible]

We don't be [illegible] knock Malone out, but IF he should drive home the big smash Jack will go to the canvas just as Bogash did Johnny Karr of Cleveland [illegible] not punch half as hard as Moody knocked Malone down. While [illegible] many to believe that Nate Lewis colorful fighter will have to step faster than he has at any time during his career if he is to win.

Malone, master boxer and artist as a scoring airplane [illegible] put together as Moody. The [illegible] as a typical puncher, a result of the Busy Papke school of fighting [illegible] Ames, Moody's manager, [illegible] Papke when the latter [illegible] and He has coached [illegible] protege in the Papke style of battling.

If Moody keeps rushing Malone and roughs up the American in the clinches, he will have a better chance for scoring with a victory. His will force an opening for his right hand bet to the jaw.

MOODY ALSO HAS YOUTH IN HIS FAVOR.

Also bear in mind that Moody is much younger than Malone. The Welshman is only twenty-two years of age, while Malone is twenty-[illegible]. A youngster of twenty-two is hard to stop in athletics when confidence is backed up by real ability.

As long as Malone can dance around the ring, jab and bolt with his left and swing with his right, he will be able to pile up points. But in the event Moody is able to crack over a few right hand socks it may be another story.

Malone has been termed the uncrowned king of the middleweights and has real claims to this honor. He has done particularly well in Boston rings, where he has won twelve straight bouts. Jock, however, has never been called upon to face as hard a puncher as Moody. If Malone can stand up under the Welshman's heavy smashes, those persons who have been hoping [illegible] ogies, opponent for Harry Greb will have more food for argument.

Malone, very naturally [illegible] the ring a favorite. The boxer always has the edge on the puncher. There will be many fans, though, who will string along with the youth with the old sock, particularly as the Moody punch was hefty enough to stop Bogash and Jackie Clark and dispose of George Robinson and Pal Reed.

The international flavor to the [illegible] plus Moody's ability as a [illegible] have given to members of [illegible] match. Malone [illegible] was born a gold coast Boston when [illegible] pitted against a fast [illegible] opponent. It takes a man of M[illegible] with [illegible] to [illegible] from [illegible] a match [illegible] Malone [illegible] principal. [illegible] Malone [illegible] against [illegible] fans didn't [illegible] [illegible] opponent for Jack Bat[illegible] Moody [illegible] the fighting man in the other corner everybody appears anxious to see what will happen if the Welshman is fortunate enough to drop one of his right hand punches on Malone's chin.

Radio Stations Adjust Wave Lengths to End Confusion

A step has been taken to eliminate a great deal of confusion and interference between a number of Chicago broadcasting stations that are on at the same time, Mr. F. A. Deane, supervisor of radio for the ninth radio district, announced.

Station WGN (formerly WDAP, will change its wave length from 365 to 370 meters and will broadcast periods with the Drake-Wright Broadcasting Station WLIB. This will provide for a separation of many kilocycles or twenty-five meters between station WGN and station WMAQ and WLIB, and will enable ordinarily selective receiving sets to separate and tune in on the different programs.

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

She was afraid she was going to scream.

THEN, people she knew were always taking trips there. She was afraid of a big city—afraid of any place where many gather. Her instinct sought remoteness—some far, deserted spot without enchantments. So she had fastened on the idea of a beach, distant from any town.

off with 150,000 Italian immigrants every year, or double that. It would be doubly happy if it could get twice as many from other European countries that produce the kind of citizens we need.

HOWEVER, our learned gentlemen in Washington insist on shutting out from this country the only real wealth on earth, which is human intelligence and ambition.

Let's be grateful therefore for the small group of 1,562 sailors, and wish them success in this country, which, by the way, their compatriot, Christopher Columbus, discovered for us.

A NEW LOCOMOTIVE, just tried in the East, interests you. It is a whole power plant in itself, burns oil, changes that into electricity and runs by the electricity.

A boy can learn to run it in ten minutes. It has great power, and you are told it need only ten to fifteen cents worth of fuel per hour. That won't please coal mine owners, but it shows how much fuel has been wasted in power production hitherto.

WHEN THE Americans decide to control their public servants they may learn from France. The French people decided that they no longer wanted Millerand for President, and made their meaning clear yesterday. Millerand resigned, leaving his fine palace of the Elysee, with a salary of 1,800,000 francs, which, in normal times, would be worth $360,000 of our money. Of all people on earth, none is more efficient than the French.

EX-KAISER'S WIFE EXPECTING STORK

SHARP QUAKE RAZES HOUSES IN BALKANS

Rome, June 12.—Dispatches from Jugoslavia today announce a sharp earthquake in the Balkans, with its most marked effect in the vicinity of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Houses were crumbled by the shock and some casualties are reported. Mostar, Herzegovina, seems to have been the center of the Telluric movement. The press points out that this earth movement fulfills one of the predictions made by Raphael Bandani of Faenza, the seismologist, who in his recent forecast of earthquakes for June forecast that shocks would soon be felt in the Mediterranean region, especially in the Balkans.

BELGIUM RELEASES 50 RUHR CAPTIVES

Brussels, June 12.—The Belgian government has ordered the release of fifty German political prisoners condemned for offenses in the Ruhr. The action is intended to lessen the tension in the Ruhr and make easier the German government's acceptance of the Dawes reparation settlement report. Only those found guilty of destroying property are being held in confinement.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

By Wm. F. Kirk

OUR TEACHER was telling us yesterday that we should try to larn how to rite Fickshun. She sed there was a grate feeld for Fickshun writers, that had in vorted the Movies & she sed a Fickshun riter cud soon get rich.

Bobbie start in to larn fickshun ritelng very snuff if he talks after me, sed Pa.

I dident no, sed Ma, you have fould me fickshun snuff since you were my husband to keep the fickshun bizzy for fifty years, sed Ma.

You mean that I am not truthfull sed Pa.

If you do not trust me how can you luv me with that unlying, luv of mine, sed Pa.

I luv you in spite of yure faults, sed Ma, much as a mother luvs a retarded child, sed Ma.

Well, well, I like that sed Pa, what do you mean conparing a big powerful grate like me with a crippled child, sed Pa.

I dident mean that. You are getting kind of red around the eers, lately, she sed to Pa. I was but trying to help you think of sumthing sed Ma. You are growing bald like a crippel, sed Ma. I was just trying a little Fickshun, to show Bobbie how it is done, sed Ma.

How much munny can I mailk if I rite Fickshun? I sed.

Bobbie, sed Pa, let me tell you sumthing. The greatest fault a young peepul have to-day is asking for sum question. How much munny can I mailk. They do not ask the question. How good can I becum at sum calling or proffesshun, sed Pa, they want to know rite away. Just how much munny can I mailk?

Well, sed Ma, I supposes all of us have to think of munny nowadays, sed Ma.

But we must think first of all, sed Pa, of our work & how we can mailk it better, Pa sed. If we do our work better than sumbody else can do it, sed Pa, the munny will talk care of itself, sed Pa. That is a lesson that I want to send home with Bobbie.

I dident need no lesson pounded home with me, I sed. I can larn without being pounded, that is old stuff, pounding a kid.

I did not mean that I wud whip you, Bobbie, sed Pa, as you need a good sound spanking at this very Moment, sed Pa. I meen be I wud like to begin to whip in. Do yure work the best you can & the munny will follow as the nite the day, sed Pa. I made a hundred dollars this very afternoon, sed Pa, mostly beekaus I went the extra yunz I dident think of pay but of how well I cud do my work.

How much of the hundred can I have? sed Ma.

The Pa looked like he wisht he dident menshun the hundred, but he digged it up & todd Ma to help herself & you bet Ma did.

Wimmen certingly like munny & that aint no Fickshun.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

ALTHOUGH bigamy is against the law, a man should really be allowed two wives. One to enjoy and the other to fight with.

YOU could quarrel with one and pal around with the other.

IT gets monotonous batlling with the same woman day in and day out.

IF Wife No. 1 gave you a black eye, Wife No. 2 should put a piece of beef steak on it.

THEN you and Wife No. 2 could get together and talk about Wife No. 1.

STILL, a man with two wives would have to think up two alibis when he came in at two o'clock in the morning.

NO matter how many wives a man might have he'd always be out looking for another one.

THE average fellow doesn't seem to realize that he can get all the trouble he wants right at home.

BUT for some reason or other he likes to go outside of the family and hunt for it.

WITH two wives he wouldn't have to hunt for trouble. It would come naturally.

IT would solve a lot of domestic troubles if a man could be married to two women at the same time. When one was nagging you, the other one could be telling you how wonderful you are.

YOU could use your own judgment and listen to the one who interested you the more.

IT wouldn't be long, however, before they'd both be nagging you.

YOUR heart would be full of love, your ears full of gossip and your hands full of trouble.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston American.

Dorothy, age four, was taken to see the marathon race. On arriving home, when asked how she liked it, replied, very haughtily, "I didn't like it a bit, the men were running with their undies on."

HOWTO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney

Boston Health Commissioner.

THERE is one ailment that is peculiar to child-birth and which is the bane of the average household. It is croup.

A youngster retires at night apparently in the best of health. A few hours later he starts coughing. It is a rough, harsh, rattalic cough. The child cries, his face becomes flushed and he breathes with the greatest difficulty.

Dr. Mahoney.

The disease is known as false croup, or "spasmodic laryngitis."

The larynx is the part of the throat between the base of the tongue and the windpipe. It is lined with mucus membrane and when the croup attacks the larynx this membrane becomes inflamed and greatly swollen. It becomes so swollen, usually times, that there is only a small space for the passage of air.

As a general rule the attacks last for only a few hours, but there is danger of recurrence on the following night and often for many nights.

Children between the ages of two and five years appear to be most susceptible. Generally the child gives some evidence of the approaching trouble. A running of the nose and the general symptoms of a cold are unusually prevalent a day or two before the outbreak.

A good home treatment is to place the little sufferer in a tub of hot water. Make the water at least 100 degrees temperature—and as much more as can be stood by the child without danger of being scalded.

An emetic is also good. Syrup of ipecac alone or with syrup of squills is good. Better see the doctor and have his advice on what treatment to give the child.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Please prescribe a blood tonic for me that will build me up.—Mrs. G. A.

I would advise you to go to your family physician and let him prescribe for you.—F. X. M.

Am troubled with pains from the knees to the ankles and would be pleased if you would tell me what would give me some relief.—F. M. P.

The conditions which you describe may be caused from defect arches. I would advise you to consult an orthopedist and see if this is your trouble.

Please tell me how to get rid of a large cyst on the back of my neck. Can it be scattered?—J. F. M.

I would advise you to consult your family physician or some reputable surgeon or clinic—preferably one at a hospital. If they advise an operation by all means it is advisable for you to have one.

My knuckles are growing larger on several fingers. What is the reason? Is it harmful to eat a whole package of candy kisses in an evening?—M. L.

Undoubtedly the large knuckles are due to rheumatic or arthritic condition—so called hypertrophic arthritis. I do not see that it will harm you any harm to eat the candy which you mention.

The Helping Hand

Offers Shoes

Editor Helping Hand:

We received your letter and we thank you and the lady from East Dedham who so kindly is willing to help us. We will call as early as we can. I have a pair of shoes, high, brown, new, with rubber heels. Some one may have them if they will call any evening. The size is 5½ C.

MISS. L. G.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. B. D., a deserted mother, who wears that size, and we have written asking her to call in the evening.

Offers Brown Stroller

Editor Helping Hand:

I have sent bundles to A. R. of Boston and A. A. S. and just now am sending a bundle to E. W. of New Hampshire. I have a brown stroller with a brown top for someone who needs it. I will have a few things more later on, as I intend to move in a couple of weeks. Has anyone a bird cage they have no use for, as I have been offered a bird and have no cage for it?

MRS. E. G. C.

We all are very grateful for all that you are doing. You have been sent the address of Mrs. E. L. P., whose husband has been out of work since Thanksgiving and who badly needs a stroller for the youngest of six children.

Records Given

Our thanks are due the following people who generously offered records to C. R., the inmate of the State Farm Infirmary. They will be enjoyed not only by him but by the other patients in the ward.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Cheerful dividend news for stockholders continues to be the rule. Last month, records kept by this column show thirty-nine industrial and railway companies bettered their dividend distributions, while in April forty-five companies did so.

From the beginning of May last year to the end of May this year, no fewer than 788 companies have increased their payments to their stockholders — an extraordinary record. No fewer than 709 of the companies were industrial and miscellaneous, while seventy-seven came under the head of railroads.

The monthly record of enlarged industrial dividend payments since the current year began is as follows:

|---|---|
| January | 73 |
| February | 46 |
| March | 61 |
| April | 40 |
| May | 33 |

* * *

What form have these payments taken? Extra dividends headed the list, with a total of 85, followed by increased dividends, with a total of 81. Details:

Extra dividends—85.
Initial dividends—38.
Increased dividends—51.
Back dividends—30.
Stock dividends—28.
Resumed dividends—21.
Special dividends—3.

During the current year three railroads have begun paying dividends, 6 have increased their distributions, 6 have made extra payments, one declared a stock dividend and three have paid back dividends.

* * *

The U. S. Department of Commerce keeps a record of the interest and dividend payments made by a general group of manufacturing corporations, banks and utility companies each month. Payments to be made by that group during the current month reach $366,000,000, a gain of $11,000,000 over June of last year, and an increase of almost 4 per cent.

Railroads Are Advanced to Fresh Highs for the Year in Strong Market

CUT IN MONEY RATE IS AID TO BULLS

Railroads were advanced to fresh highs for the year in a strong New York Stock Market today, issues at new tops including Union Pacific, Rock Island, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, "Mop" and Southern Ry. Reduction of the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate to 3½ per cent, gave added impetus to the upward price movement at the opening.

Stewart-Warner led the initial advance with a gain of 1¾ points. Buying embraced a wide list but was particularly effective in the rails.

The opening was one of the liveliest in months, the ticker having difficulty in keeping up with the trading. New 1924 highs were established in the first half hour by more than a dozen stocks, including Seaboard Air Line preferred, "Mop" preferred, Colorado & Southern and Fleischmann.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Stewart Warner and United Fruit extended their early gains to 2 points or more, while U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Famous Players, United Cigar, Case & Mfg. Co., Reading and Davison Chemical were among the many stocks to sell a point or more above yesterday's final figures.

National Shawmut Bank has reduced rate on brokerage loans from 4 per cent. to 3½ per cent.

Other Boston banks are marking down the call money rate from 4 per cent. to 3½ per cent.

Call money in New York call money opened at 2 per cent.

Wall St. Gossip

NEW YORK telephone calls handled daily average more than 10,000,000. Five years ago daily average was 6,200,000.

N. Y. TELEPHONE for 1923 reports $8.20 a share profit on common against $8.07 in preceding year.

AMERICAN LOCOMOTIVE is still maintaining 45 per cent. operating rate established about three months ago.

W. T. GRANT Co. reports May sales of $1,939,546, an increase of 14.38 per cent. over May, 1923.

FOR FIRST time in history of the two markets, New York discount rates for bankers' acceptances are lower than Boston.

BRADSTREET'S report states building permits in 157 cities in May, show increase of 19 per cent. over last year.

Big Money Interests Are Served at Cleveland, Says Mr. Hearst

June 11, 1924.

To Editor of the American:

Reading Congress out of the party at the Republican Convention is like Charles the First dissolving the Parliament. Charles the First lost his head. History repeats itself very often.

This Republican Convention at Cleveland appears to be simply a bankers' convention—in fact an international bankers' convention. Everything is being done to gratify the big money interests, even to denouncing the few things which Congress has done to satisfy the plain American citizen.

These international bankers are going to compel the convention to demand that the United States enter the League of Nations by the World Court. They are going to take the Republican Party by the scruff of the neck and rub its nose in this unwelcome, unwholesome mess.

They are going to force this repulsive dose down the public's throat. They are going to finance Europe and make their commissions on foreign loans, in spite of protests by the people, in spite of the established policies of the nation since its birth, in spite of the pledges of the Republican Party and the overwhelming indorsement those pledges and policies received in the previous Presidential election.

Senator Lodge is disciplined—all who desire to keep faith with the people are penalized.

They are excluded from the party, and soon there will be nobody in the party except the international bankers and their employes in private business and in public office.

There is a wonderful opportunity for the Democratic Party. It has only to be democratic. It has only to be American. It has only to stand for the rights and liberties and the independence of the American people.

It has only to maintain the principles and policies of Washington and Jefferson and Jackson and Lincoln and Cleveland, and all the great men who founded the nation and built it to its great place in the world.

The Republican Party defies the people, repudiates its own parliament and stands for the divine right of Wealth to rule.

If the Democratic Party is not controlled by the same powerful influences which control the Republican Party, it will win a great victory for itself and for the American people in November. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

He Will Last---PERHAPS

What of the Other "Immortals"?

The other day ten names were added to the gallery of "American Immortals." How easily that word "IMMORTAL" slips off the tongue and what a BIG word it is.

Its meaning is "imperishable." The immortal is one whose MEMORY will not die, no matter what the worms and time may do to his BODY.

The French long have had their living Academy of so-called "Forty Immortals." Who can mention forty of all the immortals that have ever been in the French Academy? How many Americans can mention four among the forty French immortals of today?

How many Americans do you think could tell much about the interesting collection of immortals in our American gallery?

How many of them all will be remembered a hundred years from now, how many will live even in print a thousand or ten thousand years from now?

---

Edison is entitled to a place in the library of science, with the inventor of the electro-magnet, beside whose bust he stands.

But in the ages to come the little achievements of today will be taken for granted, remembered and discussed as little as we discuss or remember the first step taken by a baby.

It was cunning at the time that first step, highly important to the baby and its mother and father. But it isn't important to the rest of the world.

---

Men and things we call "Immortal" are extremely useful at the time, not important later.

There is no immortality for this world or anybody on it. The earth itself is not immortal. A few hundred millions of years and it will have gone back to cosmic dust, to be reconstructed again.

All that, however, isn't an excuse for not doing the best you can NOW.

If you can be remembered for ten years after you die, or with deep affection for one year by those to whom you have rendered real service, that's pretty GOOD IMMORTALITY.

Not Capital Ships

They're Capital Targets

Paris reports that Coolidge wants the League of Nations to abolish the building of all capital ships. That's a wise suggestion, whether Coolidge made it or not. The capital ship is a gigantic floating battle fort of steel. It used to be a capital SHIP in old days. Now it's simply a capital TARGET for fliers with TNT bombs. The less money this country spends on such targets for foreign fliers the better.

---

The flying ship in the clouds, the submarine in the water, good wireless equipment and terrifically fast cruisers with very long range guns to scour the seas and smash up enemy merchantmen if necessary—that's what this country needs. The battleship, huge, clumsy steel fort, delights the strutting navy officers. But it is extinct like the dodo and the hansom cab—in spite of efforts to keep it alive made by shipbuilders and armor plate men.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS

By HELEN ROWLAND

VERILY, my Daughter, a man may weep for his sins; but a woman weepeth for her follies.

For her sins may be expiated and forgiven; but for her follies, a woman cannot forgive herself! And her punishment is everlasting!

Helen Rowland

Therefore doth she shed bitter tears for all the foolish things which she hath done, and for all the wise things which she hath left undone, in the days of her youth.

For the kiss she hath given—and should have withheld.

And for the kiss she hath withheld—and might have given.

For the mad impulse which caused her to bob her hair in the fond delusion that it would be more comfortable—and youthful.

For the weakness which lured her to call a man on the telephone before breakfast—or after a quarrel.

For the frankness which tempted her to be "honest" with a man, and to tell him what she really thought of him.

For the years she hath spent in trying to soften the heart of a hard-shelled bachelor or to lure a heart-fancier into marriage.

For the vanity which inspired her to be "brilliant" and "scintillating," in order to fascinate a man, yea, even to "stun" him!

And for the folly which led her to be "original and daring," rather than "sweet and sympathetic," in order to win a man's heart.

For the trustfulness which caused her to spill her sentiment and her soul-secrets on note-paper in the hope that her letters would be "destroyed."

And for the complacency which tempted her to "drop in unexpectedly" at a busy man's office.

For the near-loves and infatuations, whereon she hath hung her dreams and her illusions and wasted her heart's substance.

But a man weepeth only for the follies which he failed to commit while he had the chance!

Selah!

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

To Help Children

Editor American:

The Boston Tuberculosis Association, at its Preventorium in Mattapan, in addition to the twenty children who are there regularly, plans to take 100 additional children for July and August.

These children will come from among those who have been exposed to consumption and who will undoubtedly be the consumptives of the next generation unless preventive means are taken. These children will be cared for free of charge.

The camp is urgently in need of tents, canvas cots, dishes and cutlery of all kinds. We are hoping that you will call this to the attention of your readers so that our wants for this purpose may be widely known.

A mess tent is especially needed as well as two others approximately 7x7 feet.

Any contributions along the lines as mentioned above should be sent to the Boston Tuberculosis Association, No. 25 Huntington Avenue, Boston.

Any information in regard to what the Association is undertaking will be gladly given.

JOHN B. HAWES, 2d.

From Prize Winner

Editor American:

I have received your $10 check as one of the winners of the Bible Contest conducted by the Boston American, and desire to thank you.

I had not anticipated that the frank views expressed would find much favor, and was surprised not a little when my name appeared as one of the winners. However, it is encouraging to know that there are intelligent people, free from the chains of superstition and blind faith, who are seriously considering the question of religion in a dispassionate and reasoning manner.

Baby in Hospital

Editor Helping Hand:

My baby has been in the hospital for two weeks with very little hopes for his life. We have five other kiddies to feed and clothe, and we cannot seem to find a penny to dress ourselves. My husband is in great need of everything. He wears size 38, shirts 15½, shoes 5½. I wear size 16 or 36. I wish I could do some little bit to help this great work instead of asking for aid. May God bless your good work. E. L. R.

Clothing for Man

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some clothing to fit a man five feet ten of about 170 pounds. Send me name and address, and I will forward goods by parcel post or express paid.

J. E. W.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. P. B. H., whose husband is greatly in need of clothing.

Son Needs Suit

Editor Helping Hand:

Am a poor widow just making both ends meet. Have a son in a hospital and he is coming home soon, but he has no suit to wear. I wonder if some good-natured person would help me? He is tall and takes size 38. MRS. K. C.

Widow Needs Furniture

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a widow with two small children. I have been living with my sister-in-law, who has a large family and I would like to go to housekeeping myself. If any kind reader of the column has any kind of furniture for a bedroom, kitchen or sitting room, it would be greatly appreciated by me.

MRS. E. F.

Sends Welcome List

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of someone who could use the following articles. Most of these things have been used but are still serviceable. Thank you for giving me an opportunity to help this splendid cause. Long may you live. MRS. J. B.

The thanks belong to you, not to us. Your list was doubly welcome for being too long to publish. The things will be of great use to Mrs. H. J. J., whose address has been sent you.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

LULLABY, lullaby this is the song that the willows sigh; hear them croon when the moon slowly swings down in the western sky. Bird-songs cease now and peace robes all the earth at the days' release. Care is gone, until dawn men have from trouble a sweet surcease. Lullaby, lullaby, wind in the willow trees' branches high; telling tales of the sails spreading their white wings against the sky. Winds on wing, how they sing songs of wild seas and of waves that sting; telling tales of loud gales tamed by tthe miles into whispering. Summer wind, sweet and kind, telling of tropic lands left behind; lullaby, lullaby, this is the song of the passing wind. Silver moon, drowsy tune sung by the brook in a rippling rune on its way, bright and gay, down through flower-fair fields of June. Tender light, through the night, touching the willow's wands with white; creeping on past the lawn decked for the dances of elf and sprite. Breezes go soft and slow into the aisles where the daisies grow, woodland nook, wind and brook singing their lullabies sweet and low. When days' past, then at last quiet falls aver the woodland vast; Nature sleeps, but there creeps murmur of wind and of water past. Lullaby, lullaby, this is the song that the great woods sigh, hushed and low, sweet and slow, singing while night and the stars go by. Have no fear Baby, dear, this is the song that the fairies hear; lullaby, lullaby, soft winds whisper and waves reply.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON "WHAT SHALL I DO WITH MY LIFE"

By Dr. Frank Crane

THERE is no more important question to be decided than this: "What shall I do with my life?

It is to be decided by the young people. In fact, the great issues are all decided by Youth; in old age we abide by them, we make the best of them we can.

For the great questions are those which sit around the hearthstone of the heart, it is the smaller questions that peep out of the attic windows of the mind.

The great questions are those like, What woman shall I marry? and, What business shall I engage in?

As to the former, we have nothing to say. As to the latter, we have several things to say. In the first place, no one is qualified for business who has not a certain amount of Capital. By this we do not mean money laid up in the bank only, but capital stored away in the shape of knowledge in the head and of skill in the hands. Always the question is asked not only, What can a man do? but, What has he done?

Not only is capital good, therefore, in backing up a man, but capital of any kind is necessary. The poorest paid workers in the world are those who have nothing but themselves to offer and the labor of their hands.

The boy at school is laying up capital, enough capital to begin with. The apprentice is laying up capital, always something extra with which to equip himself for the future job.

Secondly, a man should have courage, courage to seize the opportunity when it comes, and willingness to throw himself, soul foremost, into any door that may open.

Very often a man fails to better his position simply because he lacks the courage to assume the duties of a higher nun.

Next to capital and courage comes the knowledge of what one likes.

No man can get very far in a business that he does not like, into which he cannot throw himself enthusiastically.

A glance at the record of those who have succeeded shows that the masters are the men who like what they are doing whether it is wheat growing or the managing of a bank.

In this there should be a liking for the work itself and not for its emoluments or byplay. For, to the man who does not like work and can find nothing into which he can throw himself with all his might, this is a cold world.

The great thing that is needed, however, is ambition. There are two ways to win—either to create a chance or take one.

The United States was an opportunity for the American Indian, but he could not improve it.

Fortunately our life is doled out to us one day at a time. We should make of every morning a new beginning. There is a bigger job awaiting your ability to handle it. Where one man fails another man succeeds. Where the farmer starved, the Standard Oil started.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON METEORITE FISHER

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

PROFESSOR ARTHUR M. MILLER, of the University of Kentucky, has a special line in astronomy which, though not very much followed, is of absorbing interest. It might be called fishing for meteorites, except that these strange wanderers in the celestial ocean cannot be baited nor in any manner caught until they have "landed" of their own record.

Since their rapid flights through the atmosphere before they get down often extend for many hundred miles, sometimes across several States, it might seem impossible to follow the course of any one of them from its first appearance until it has "netted" itself in the meshes of atmospheric resistance and dropped to the ground—yet the feat, as Professor Miller's success proves, can be accomplished.

Many large meteorites (perhaps all or nearly all) burst and scatter into a great number of fragments not long before reaching the earth's surface. On the principle that it is easier to hit a target with a charge of birdshot than with a bullet this may aid in the pursuit by increasing the chance of finding the place where the meteorite came down.

The principles of this chase (to vary the metaphor) resemble those of the bee-hunter, who sees captured wild bees free at different points, notes exactly the directions of their flight, and by estimating the crossing place of the converging lines, locates the "bee-tree."

In a similar way Professor Miller has several times followed up a meteorite, utilizing the observations of others as far as available, and succeeded in finding it, or fragments of it far from the place where its fiery flight was first noticed.

A specific case is always the most interesting and convincing, and here is Professor Miller's account of how he traced the flight of a meteorite in 1919, and recovered some of its fragments, though the main mass is still unfound:

"It fell near midday on April 9, and the horizontal component of fall" (i.e. the direction in which it traveled in the air) "was from south to north, coming into Southern Kentucky from over the State of Tennessee. In the latter State the sky was cloudless, and, though near midday, the meteorite shone with a brilliance above that of the sun. Over Kentucky hung clouds obscuring it from view, but by this time the stone was near enough to the earth to be detonating with terrific violence, so that its position from point to point could be located by the sound. Indeed, the concussions were so violent as to shake buildings, leading county papers of that region first to report the phenomenon as an earthquake.

. . . In coming north over Kentucky this meteorite's horizontal component paralleled the line of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, and it is an interesting fact that the tower men along the line of this road, as far as Danville, kept by telephone ahead of this 'commotion' coming up the road—that is ahead of the sound of it. Fragments began to spall off at Sawyer Post Office, near Cumberland Falls, and some fifty-four pounds of the material were secured by the writer from that vicinity. There is little doubt, however, that the main mass, which must be very large for an aerolite, went on farther north and today lies buried somewhere in the very rugged portion of Pulaski County, north of the Cumberland River."

It will be noticed that Professor Miller calls this particular body an "aerolite," which is the name given to the species of meteorites that have a stony composition, and consist largely of silicates of magnesium, calcium, aluminum, etc. Their specific gravity is much less than that of the iron meteorites which are alloyed with nickel. Professor Miller suggests that the first of the famous Damascus sword blades were made from a nickel-iron meteorite.
